Bear Creek Decision Is Delayed

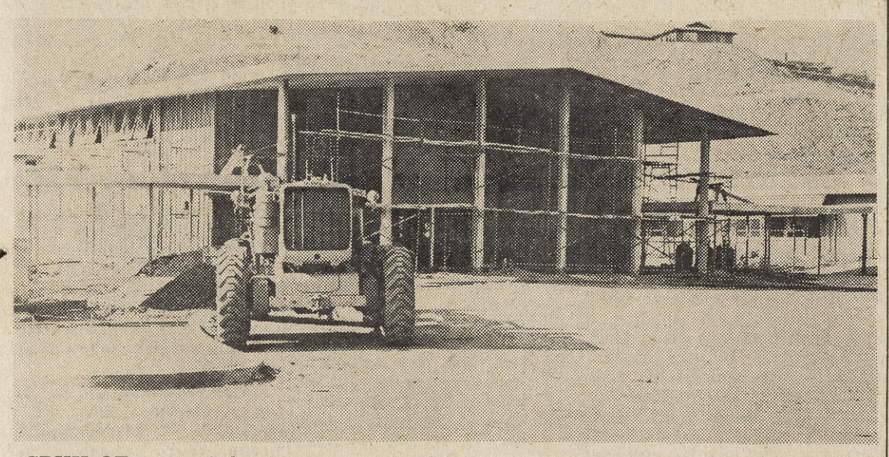
County Works Toward Acquiring Park Land

Contra Costa County will start negotiations with East Bay Municipal Utility Company to acquire utility owned lands for park and recreational purposes, probably within two weeks, according to Duane Mattison of the County Park Commission.

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors, acting Tuesday on a recommendation from the park commission that the board take immediate steps to acquire by lease or long term contract utility owned lands, has turned the matter over to County Administrator Joseph P. McBrien for study.

"We want immediate action taken to acquire these lands without purchase," said Mattison, "but the actual date and method of negotiations is up to the county administrator and the board."

The vast area involved includes Briones Valley Park extension, Lafayette Watershed Property, the land between the Camino Pablo and the old San Pablo Dam Road, Redwood Canyon, Rocky Ridge, and the major portions of the Upper and Lower San Leandro reservoir lands.



CRUX OF most of the construction problems in the Orinda Union School District these days is this still-incomplete multipurpose room of the Ivy Intermediate School. The room was to have been completed October 12, but the contractor, J. G. Reynolds of Santa Rosa, now says it will be sometime after December 1 before the building is finished. Trustees of this district will meet with Reynolds after that date to determine whether they will impose liquidated damages of $50 per day. —Sun photo by Mattson.

Constable Pay Low?

Criticizing the proposed annual pay scales for constables as too low, the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday scheduled a meeting for 9:15 a.m. today to discuss pay individually with the county's 13 constables.

The reasons for the proposed cuts in annual compensation were recently detailed by the County Administrator's office. It was explained the suggestion, which could mean pay decreases of as much as $4085 a year, is based on an analysis of work loads in the county's 13 judicial districts.

THE PROPOSAL would require the constables to give up annual county car allowances of $468 to $1700 each and turn in to the county treasury all fees and mileage collected for serving papers in connection with lawsuits.

An analysis of the existing situation by Assistant Administrative Analyst Joseph Connery indicated most of the 13 constables either had free offices in the county buildings or operated out of their homes.

The new proposal would require the county to provide office space and county-owned cars for the four busiest constables. The other nine would be paid for using their own cars at the regular county rate of 11 cents per mile for the first 500 miles a month and six cents for every additional mile.

THE SUPERVISORS hope to decide by Thursday whether or not they will change from the fee and mileage system currently in use for constables to a straight pay scale based on work load.

County Administrator J. P. McBrien told the supervisors his office believes the pay scales recommended should be adopted. The straight salaries proposed range from $1920 to $7008. If they are approved, constables would turn in to the county treasury all fees and mileage collected for serving legal papers.

At Tuesday's pay scale discussion, the supervisors indicated they all feel none of the constables should be forced to take any substantial loss of income through a revision of payments for their services.

Mel F. Nielhon of Lafayette said straight salaries will make it necessary for constables to bill the county for clerks and other expenses currently paid out of fees by the individual constable.

James Kenney of Richmond pointed out that a higher scale might cost the county a bit more than at present but that future receipts from fees paid to the county as business increases will offset the costs.

Moraga Zoning Set for Hearing On January 12

The County Board of Supervisors has scheduled a public hearing to consider the County Planning Commission's recommendations for precise zoning of the 8800-acre Moraga area for 10 a.m. January 12.

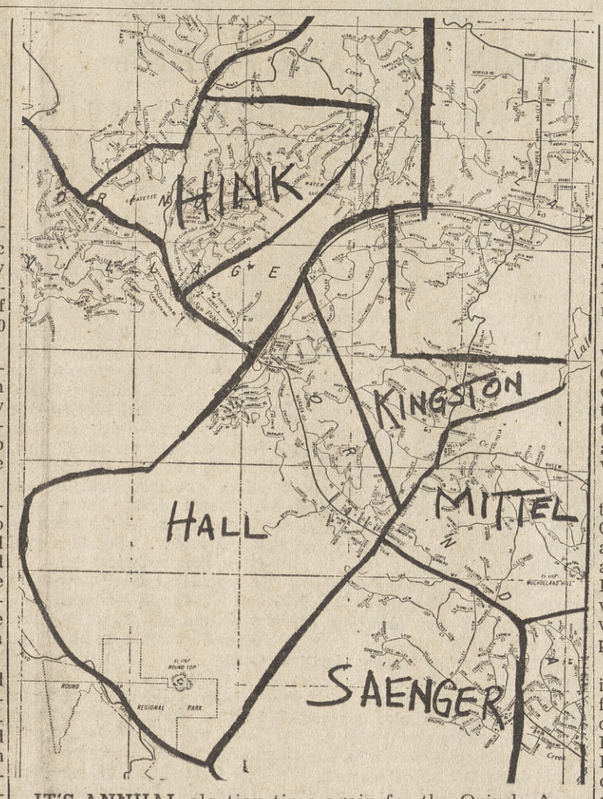
Supervisors set the date Tuesday after hearing a report from Russell Griffith, principal county planner, that the County Planning Department is prepared to proceed with the plan to zone the much-discussed area.

An attempt by the planning department earlier this year to have the public hearing scheduled for the zoning request failed when supervisors referred the problem back to a citizens' committee for further study of the zoning as it relates to the Moraga General Plan.

Griffith reported to the board that the planning department representatives have met with residents of the Moraga area and tentative agreement has been reached on all matters concerning the zoning of all single residential properties.

The planning official said the county now can proceed with the precise zoning question, and the determination of whether certain areas will be zoned for controlled manufacturing can be made at the public hearing.

Almost all of the land involved is owned by the Utah Construction Company. The company plans to construct a model community in the Moraga area, but residents have opposed the Utah attempts to include controlled manufacturing and business offices in the plan.



IT'S ANNUAL election time again for the Orinda Association, and ballots will be mailed Sunday to the members in good standing of the association. At stake this year are four two-year terms on the board of directors and one partial one-year term. The partial term is that of David Saenger, who resigned earlier this year because he moved from the area. Ten candidates have been nominated for the five seats. Ballots are due back early next month, and the new directors will assume their posts January 1.

County Postpones Road Adoption Until January

Formal adoption of a route for relocation of Bear Creek Road was postponed by the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday afternoon following a public hearing which lasted more than three hours.

The supervisors will tackle the controversial road relocation matter at 11 a.m. January 10, when they will formally adopt one of two remaining alternates.

At Tuesday's hearing, the board voted unanimously against a recommendation of a citizens' study committee that the county authorize the expenditure of $13,600 to study the possibility of using a route in the Charles Hill-Happy Valley area.

THE SUPERVISORS expressed the feeling that the proposed Charles Hill route was merely an alternate and was not an actual relocation of Bear Creek Road. For this reason, the supervisors held, the Charles Hill plan would not serve the required purpose.

Relocation of Bear Creek Road is being made necessary by the flooding of the existing roadway due to construction of the East Bay Municipal Utility District's Briones Reservoir. The district contracted with the county to construct a new replacement road in a location selected by the county.

Remaining routes under consideration are the Black Hills alternate, around the southern and eastern ends of the large reservoir, and the "C" route, which would traverse the northern end of the dam.

THE BLACK HILLS route has been recommended by the County Public Works Department, the County Planning Commission and two independent consulting engineers hired by the county.

When studies were made of the alternate routes, the engineers estimated the Black Hills route would cost about $2 million less than the "C" route.

But many of the 300 persons at Tuesday's hearing, including Chairman Mel Nielsen of the board of supervisors, felt that by reexamining the cost estimates and perhaps by shortening the "C" route a little, the costs could be reduced.

SUPERVISORS will meet with Victor Sauer, public works director, to discuss this possibility, and their decision in January will hinge on what the meeting determines.

In the absence of James Moriarity of Orinda, chairman of the citizens' committee, Robert Kahn, president of the Happy Valley Improvement Association, read the committee report recommending the study of the Charles Hill route.

A large contingent of Charles Hill area residents, represented by attorney Dana Murdock of Lafayette, opposed this plan. Charles Hill speakers included Jack Lackey, president of the Monte Vista Association.

KAHN AND Charles Blue, president of the Sleepy Hollow Improvement Association, again expressed their groups' objections to the proposed Black Hills route on the basis that it would not serve the entire county and that it would create traffic problems in the two residential areas.

The Happy Valley association president pointed out that the Black Hills route would require extensive cut and fill in order to construct the type of highway required by the county, and that once a motorist got on the road he would not be able to leave it for picnicking and other recreational purposes.

These two problems, Kahn said, would not be posed by construction of the northern alternate.

Or-La-Mo Chosen As Name for Scout District

Two young Orinda boys came up with similar suggestions for the name of the new Boy Scout district in the Mt. Diablo Council, and both will receive pup tents in recognition of their efforts.

The name which finally was selected by the council for the district which comprises the Lafayette, Moraga and Orinda school districts is "Or-La-Mo," submitted by Ronald C. Cavalli of 16 Dolores Way, Orinda.

Chip Monahan of 79 Loma Vista, Orinda, submitted "Orlamo" and was awarded second place and a pup tent.

Ronald is a member of Den 9, Pack 57 of the Cub Scouts, and Chip belongs to Boy Scout Troop 207.

Joe Conley of Orinda, chairman of the naming contest committee, said the group felt that the "Or-La-Mo" interpretation of the name was more Indian-sounding and more adaptable for use.

About 25 entries were received in the contest, which was sponsored by the Scout council and The Sun.

Mail Early for Holiday Delivery, Postmaster Urges

Postmaster Laura Mallary said today that early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas.

"Postal facilities have been expanded, extra help will be available and everything is geared up to handle a record Christmas mail in Orinda," she explained.

The postmaster advised, "Don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugate,d mailing cartons plenty of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the contents."

Persons having articles of unusual size or bulk had better check with the post office before attempting to mail them, Mrs. Mallary stated. The limits of size and weight of packages vary, depending on where the items are mailed from.

She said parcels mailed from Orinda to locations east of Reno are limited to a maximum weight of 20 pounds.

Municipal Court Into Vets' Bldg. Is Proposed

A proposal to move the Walnut Creek Municipal Court into the Veterans Memorial Building on Locust Street will be submitted to the County Board of Supervisors in about two weeks.

Supervisor Tom Coll, who outlined the move to Walnut Creek councilmen Monday night, said the County Public Works Department will prepare estimates on the cost and methods of renovating the building.

He said he believes most supervisor discussion on the matter will relate to renovation, rather than the choice of the site.

THE COURT would take about 4200 square feet of the building, and the county would reimburse the veterans' groups for the loss of space, which they normally are able to rent out for dances and other social events during the year.

The county originally built veterans' buildings in various areas, and turned them over to veterans' groups, which must see to the cleaning and maintenance, using them for their own functions.

Coll estimated the renovation costs at from $15,000 to $20,000, whereas the cost of locating elsewhere at this time might run to $100,000.

The county has allocated $31,000 this year for municipal court.

DISCUSSION has been held on locating the court permanently in the Walnut Creek civic center, and Coll indicated that this is still the long-range goal.

Use of the Red Cross building on Civic Drive has also been considered, but this has been deemed too costly.

Ballots for Association Will Be Mailed Sunday

Ballots will be mailed Sunday to all members in good standing of the Orinda Association for the group's annual election of directors.

Four two-year terms and a single unexpired term of one year on the association's board are at stake in the election.

The ballots must be returned to the association no later than December 8, and they will be canvassed on December 10 by a committee of five members. The committee will be appointed at Monday night's meeting of the board.

NEW DIRECTORS of the association will take office January 1.

The unexpired term is that of David Saenger, who resigned earlier this year when a change in job caused him to move from the area.

There are two candidates for each of the five vacant seats, and all 10 hopefuls appeared at Monday night's meeting of the association's civic affairs committee to introduce themselves and present short campaign speeches.

Statements by each of the candidates appeared in last week's issue of The Sun.

THE CANDIDATES for this year's election and the directors they are seeking to succeed are as follows:

Connie Hall—Michael Ball, 2 Spring Court, and David Edwards, 34 Bates Boulevard; President Victor Kingston—Arnold O. Anderson, 305 Overhill Road, and George A. Talbot, 52 Hillcrest Road; Phillip Mittel—Paul J. Fanning, 160 Hall Drive, and Michael E. Dakis, 236 Orchard Road; Les Hink, Jr.—Andrew Hartanov, 155 Camino Don Miguel, and Eric Nielsen, 224 Camino Sobrante, and Saenger — Gary Nikolai, 28 Dolores Way, and James Keating, 5 Albo Court.

Ice Cream Store Robbed Sunday

Loard's Ice Cream store, 230 Brookwood Road, Orinda, was held up Sunday evening about 7:50 by a heavy-set man in tan work clothes and sun glasses.

Clerk Betty Dyer, 23, of 2207 Labrador Street, Concord, said the man came up to the counter and when she approached him he showed a small pistol in the palm of his hand.

She reported he said, "This is a holdup."

She described the man as in his late 30s, about five feet, nine inches tall and with dark hair. She told the sheriff's office the man ordered her to open the cash register and hand over all the bills.

She gave him the money in $10, $5 and $1 bills. He ordered her to get in the back room and watched her until she had done so, she said. When he left she phoned the sheriff's department and her employer, Russell Salyards, of 129 Meadow View Road, Orinda.

Mrs. Salyards came to the store, checked the cash register and reported that $158 was missing. An Orinda girl, Sandy Larson, 12, of 11 Bates Boulevard, told deputy sheriffs she saw a 1959 blue Ford speeding from the area of the store about the time of the holdup. With its one occupant, the car went west on Brookwood Road and south on Moraga Highway, the girl said.

She Had To Stop Answering The Phone!

"I got so many calls I had to stop answering the phone," said Mrs. H. J. Streib of 1050 Carol Lane, Lafayette, after offering a girl's bike for sale in The Sun want ad columns.

Also, Charles Dishman of 21 Haven Lane, Walnut Creek, offered his grand piano for sale in The Sun.

The Sun Shopping News was circulated on Wednesday morning; he got a call at 8 a.m., and it was sold at 9 a.m.

"I am still receiving calls on it," he told The Sun.

Mary Matta of 1175 Ygnacio Valley Road, Walnut Creek, offered her dining table in The Sun, and was still receiving calls two days after it was sold.

These are typical "success stories" from Sun want ads.

The Sun credits its "5-in-1" treatment, where the want ad appears in the Sun Shopping News on Wednesday, then in the Walnut Creek Sun, Pleasant Hill Sun, Lafayette Sun and Orinda Sun on the following Friday.

A 14-word ad is only $1.60.

Place your ad over the phone and pay later. Call YE 4-5000, AT 4-4444 or CL 4-4343.

It's Man of the Year Time Again; Who Will It Be?

Who will be the Orinda Man of the Year?

It's that time again, believe it or not. The year is drawing to a close, and it is time to look back over the achievements and accomplishments which have made our community a better place in which to live.

And it's time to recognize the people who have done this.

ONCE AGAIN The Sun is sponsoring the annual Man of the Year award. A committee of local citizens will be named soon to choose the person deemed to have contributed the most to the welfare of the community during 1960; prior years' activities will also be taken into consideration.

The judges will be named soon, and you can help them. Send your suggestions to Man of the Year Committee, P. O. Box 147, Orinda.

YOUR RECOMMENDATIONS will be turned over to the committee. Although the award is sponsored by The Sun, selection of the person to be honored is entirely up to the committee.

Announcement of the person chosen as the Man of the Year will be made in the December 30 issue of The Sun. Later this individual will receive a certificate from The Sun.

Board Grants Study Funds

The Acalanes Union High School District and the five elementary districts it includes will be the subject of a $9000 unification study.

The County Board of Supervisors voted Tuesday to appropriate the funds requested by the county's unification study committee last month to study possible unification of the Acalanes district and elementary districts in Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Orinda, Moraga and Canyon.

SUPERVISOR Warren G. Buchanan of Pittsburg voted against the "expenditure of county general tax fund money on a school problem affecting only a portion of the county."

A proposal to accomplish unification of the Acalanes district has been under study by the county committee for a number of years, but Harold DeFraga, assistant county superintendent of schools, told the supervisors that no agreement has been reached by the group.

He said the lack of agreement was caused by a state law which prohibits school districts from hiring expert consultants which are necessary before any decision can be reached.

THE COUNTY committee recommended the $9000 study by a group of Stanford University professors on September 19. The county must develop a master plan for school district unification by September 15, 1963, or the state will develop its own plan, DeFraga reported.

The survey will be made by the Schoolhouse Planning Laboratory at Stanford, and will include studies of assessed valuation, population, school locations, staff and costs.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

Pilgrim's Progress

WE'VE COME A long way since the first Thanksgiving—but one thing hasn't changed. The beautiful simplicity of the first one can't be bettered.

In spite of our efforts to achieve the House & Garden look in just about everything, the most gracious Thanksgiving table is still the simple one taking its cue from the traditional first one.

It's hard to improve on Nature who still supplies us w/the select centerpiece items of pumpkin, gourds, grape clusters, russet leaves and walnuts.

Sure, we've added the other accoutrements—the polished silver, the heirloom trukey platter, the pristine family linen, but the simplicity of this day of giving Thanks has not been tampered with as have so many other of our celebrations.

THE TURKEY does not have to be chased w/an axe. He comes wrapped in cellophane splendor, frozen stone cold dead in the market freezer, in need of little work w/the tweezer & bleached so pristine & pure that it's hard to believe any such creature ever Gobble-Gobbled in a barnyard.

AND whether dining at the most elegant hotel or sitting up straight at Grandma's enormous round table, there is nothing like the old-fashioned turkey dinner. The stuffing may be oyster, prunes or just good old giblet dressing, but try to leave it out & hear the hollers . . . An unstuffed turkey is just NOT the same!

I just realized we shouldn't be talkink TURKEY today . . . so why don't we recall Thanksgiving as a child . . . & you can join us in the memories . . .

BACK in our day, there were aunts & cousins & uncles by the dozens so the families would take turns—one holiday dinner at that relative's home, the next holiday at another kin's . . .

WHAT'S BUZZIN', COUSIN? . . . Since we saw some of our relatives only at these bi-annual gatherings, we knew their names but sometimes suffered through just a nodding acquaintance—esp. w/boy cousins. Because the get-together sometimes numbered forty family members, the day started early, dressing in our Sunday Best for Church.

Jars of preserves, pickles & other tasty pantry products were boxed along w/a bouquet of flowers & into father's Hupmobile we piled, to sit patiently balancing the boxes of goodies, our purse & being careful not to wrinkle our best organdy dress.

THE AFTERNOON always seemed to stand still for the hunger pangs of youth were (& still are) a hard thing to control . . . We'd watch the boys ride bicycles or show off playing Catch. I always remember sneaking off to one girl cousin's room to secretly admire her handkerchief collection which she kept so fastidiously in a fancy blue satin "handkerchief folder." Sometimes we'd close the bedroom doors & spend hours giggling as we tried on the adult women's hats & coats.

If we wandered into the kitchen where all the women gossiped as they prepared dinner, we were shooed out but always left by the dining room where we could sneak an olive from the relish tray.

Remember the Stereoscope?

WHEN my own children get impatient as the heavenly fragrance of turkey filters through the house, I can well symphathize & keep some special treat on hand—just to tide them over till dinner time.

BY the time dinner was ready at 3 o'clock or so, the young folk were really famished but we still had to mind our manners & sit silently, after Grace, at the tremendous table while the uncle-host seemed to be putting on a carving exhibition for everybody's benefit.

As a child & now as an adult, I still wonder why it is that a meal that takes ALL day to prepare can be done away with in such a short time.

After the young ladies of the family helped clear the table, the men sat back & lit up their pipes & the wives joined them for second cups of coffee. We clattered around in the kitchen & the wide huge pantry still sneaking tidbits altho' we were as stuffed as the turkey had been with it first came to the table.

Later the men discussed current events over cards in the "front" room. The women tidied & talked in the huge kitchen downstairs in a wonderful basement room called the Rumpus Room, we played the Victrola, ping pong & many of the games that were piled up on the bookshelves. Games like Lotto, Parchesi, the Ouija Board.

AFTER A RESPITE, the candles were lighted and for the second time everyone again sat down to the table . . . to a huge crystal bowl gleaming w/grapes, oranges, bananas, tangerines and red apples. My father could pare an apple w/such perfection that it became a tradition for the kids to cheer when the peeling, paper-thin, remained unbroken from stem to stern coiling up in a neat little mound on the hand-painted fruitplate.

There were cheeses & little cakes, what was left of the pies, & mints and nuts were passed around. Some of the smaller children would start chasing around the table or whining so they were put to nap till time far parting.

BY NOW my white organdy dress bore signs of a holiday well-spent. Stains or gavy or pumpkin pie. Of course, the family had posed for a portrait outside on the lawn earlier in the afternoon when everyone's clothes were fresh. Whoever took the picture always took an eternity, it seemed, to snap the shutter on the Kodak camera. We got tired of waiting & being told to move a little to the left, now to the right, step back a bit & were, in the end, sometimes blurred or cut out of the snapshot altogether.

By late evening, the kids were cluttered around card table too, set up in the parlor or living room . . . We pored over family picture albums while waiting turns at the stereoscope w/its boxes of pictures that took us on a brown & white tour of the world.

Yesterday, instant entertainment (via TV) & instant foods maybe have dominated the day, but the real old-fashioned spirit of Togetherness was there. Togetherness — a word unheard of, unpreached of back then, was certainly practiced without any outside embellishments. Maybe that's why it was more important then . . . we depended on one another!

FOR FAMILY GATHERINGS, we imagine the huge Reiger clan had one of the Most! According to family man Hugh Rieger, the clan would go up the country to St. Helena where they gather for turkey dinner at a family guest ranch every year.

Togetherness in a different way for the McCready family—w/Polly putting Dick on the plane to join his father in Reno for a fishing holiday (Walt is working there temporarily) & then mother & daughters ducking down to Santa Barbara for a family reunion there . . .

So starts the season

Peg Kirby will have a busman's holiday, cooking the turkey & serving it up to a host of Kirby clanners . . . & Helen Jones over on Don Gabriel Way, will have her daughters as helpers when she entertains her cousin Jean Henderson, w/Stu and the girls joining Grandparents, the Eugene Logans of Happy Valley, at the festive table. Jean Henderson, by the way, will co-hostess w/dghtr. Judy today, an all-day Open House for The Ladies at their Loma Vista menage.

THE PAUL CATTIS had ther traditional bird down Donald Duck way w/a treat of a visit to Disneyland . . . The Bob Corsis went out to Walnut Creek where Leslie's sister set the table for the family this year. The Corsis anticipate a spring addition, or did you already know?

Having finished their new place at Squaw Valley, the William Fleagers are spending their holidays in the Christmas Tree country visit w/her son Steven at the Thatcher School, flew home again . . . Muir Sorrick flew to Ojai Valley for the traditional Turkey-Day to cook her cranberries & creamed onions at home today.

SIGNS OF THE SEASON . . . Tooling down El Toyonal, a real Emmett Kelly clown behind the wheel of a car, that being Ken Warfield headed for a party somewhere . . . At Orinda Store, Estelle Johnson sporting a new bouffant hairdo & concentrating on the cookies & candy she would bring up Portland way to her Thanksgiving host.

A TURKEY-RED COAT on Fran Sutliffe, piling up her groceries Linda Renwick's grocery cart at Lucky's Village looking like a veritable vegetable garden w/anise, artichokes, broccoli, parsley, etcelery, making a mountain of greenery . . .

A BIG GAME DAY bouquet of russet & yellow mums for a Rose by any other name but Rose Howard who was just "feeling like flowers."

VALLECITO LANE'S new street marker in holiday dress—like something out of Santa Claus Lane—in red & white candy-stripe surprise so early in the season . . . Jean & Joe Down calling to reserve six tkts. for the Dec. 4 ballet special at Miramonte. They'll go on to the club for the annual Christmas dinner.

IN THE VILLAGE . . . Jean Smith wearing a bright red wool blazer . . . Bobbie Van Sickle anachronistically tooting along in her Model A Ford in all its refurbished splendor . . . The Burton Brodys just about due back from Hawaii. On Election Day, they went down to vote & then took off for the 50th State . . .

A HAPPY BIRTHDAY BUNCH last wknd. included Terry Morris, Robbie McEligot, (Dr. Bob's little boy) & Charlotte Chapple, to name a few of the November babies . . .

Emily Witt celeb'd her 11th B'day Wed. night w/a dinner party & that Big Bird gave Judy Henderson a little competition. It was her Birthday YESTERDAY!

SPECIAL TO THE MEN: The next speaker sponsored by the Friends of the Orinda Library will be Robert Gros, PGE Exec & world-traveler-commentator, who will talk on "Global Perspective of the '60's" . . . at an evening meet, Wed. Nov. 30, (next WED. night) at the Orinda Library, 8 PM.

Gros, having attended UN sessions last August as well as witnessing in Oct. the shoe-pounding & shouting episode of Mr. K. from a nearby front seat, should prove a most interesting speaker.

People are still talking about Perc Brown's daytime talk last month when Orinda's Mr. Library & bibliophile provided some sparkling stories about collectors in general. The women repeated the stories verbatim over the dinner tables to their husbands & it's regrettable the men missed this one. Maybe next year!

Children Walk Home-- Trustees Voice Support

The children walked home in columns under guidance of teachers and block mothers, Tuesday, after Walnut Creek School District trustees on Monday emphasized that the civil defense "yellow alert" was designed first for civil emergencies and second for military.

Allan Bartlett, CD coordinator, said there were no major difficulties as the little children were led by the hand by older children, and block mothers guided them to their homes.

He added that 90 per cent of the parents he talked to seemed "pleased" with the results of the practice alert, which was witnessed by many county and state civil defense authorities, also trustees and administrators from neighboring districts.

A CRITIQUE was held afterwards at the Parkmead Lower School, under the direction of Principal William Flynn.

Bartlett said the "yellow alert" signal was made at 12 noon rather than later in the afternoon because this also allowed about 400 children on double session to participate who otherwise would have left school earlier.

Bartlett admitted that some of the children had some distance to walk, but he said he has not heard of any major difficulties, outside of scrapes and bumps where little ones occasionally tripped and fell.

The district trustees on Monday night heard objections to the walk-home drills, and they defended the practice alerts vigorously.

TWO objecting mothers attended.

One said the drills had become a "fetish" among the children, and they are making "outlandish remarks" about them.

She replied that this is drumming fear into them. And "the connotation means nothing to them . . . it's a great event . . . they are eagerly looking forward to it."

She added, "We should teach them peaceful attitudes . . . the Nazis were wonderful at regimentation . . . we fear this."

TRUSTEE Alex Lindsay said, "We have the custody of 4000 children. Our obligation is not at this time to teach them whether this world situation should exist, but it is that we must make every effort to provide for their safety."

Bartlett, who attended the meeting, emphasized that the drills are considered important for civil emergencies, such as possible explosions on school grounds, and other events where keeping the children on grounds would be difficult and inadvisable.

He added that even when some block mothers are not on the spot assigned, there are still enough of them to handle the problem.

Both Lindsay and Mrs. Madsen emphasized that they consider the drills like "fire insurance" and they did not agree with one mother that the children should be kept at school during the emergency, which might continue for an indefinite period of time.

FLYNN, who also attended the meeting, candidly said of the civil defense drills, "in a military, who knows? (how effective they will be) . . . But in a civil disaster, it is practical."

He noted that there have been 33 earthquakes in Northern California in the past 15 to 16 years.

Two letters were read at the meeting.

One objected to the distances which the children must walk and added that a parent "loses valuable time" while waiting at home for the child to arrive.

THE OTHER complained that the emphasis is too much on the military surprise attack, and not the civil emergency, and objected to setting up a single plan in advance for all types of emergencies.

In the Classroom

Del Rey First Graders Keep The Good Tooth Fairy Busy

Business is brisk for the Good Fairy who replaces "under the pillow" teeth with silver coins. Aided by their teacher, "Doctor" Ruth McCormack, the following first graders have recently shed front row center teeth: Nancy Aitken, Andy Bowers, Mike Kejar, Tim McQuaid and Becky Powell.

Several others are keeping their tongues busy working on loose teeth. These include Paul Baker, Marjorie Bevis, Roxine Doty, Suzanne Garoutte, Arthur MacAdams, Robert Sorenson, Clinton Stockton, Glenn Taylor and Lisa Yager. Inflation seems to have affected the Good Fairy, with reported prices paid ranging as high as a quarter.

Strange mutations are occuring in Miss Balling's third grade class. Each member is represented by a "book" worm on one of the room pinboards. With the completion of each book, independently read, a "book" worm grows another leg. There is some speculation as to whether any centipedes will develop.

Orinda: Poetry

Among the many Thanksgiving activities recently at Orinda School was a class poetry-writing period in Miss Schlegel's second grade class. They wrote: "The Turkey's Thanksgiving."

The turkeys don't like Thanksgiving,
'Cause then they'll be gobbled down.
They wish they could run away,
And get right out of town.
They'd like to stay alive
Instead of being dead,
They'd like to turn the tables,
And eat the people instead!

In Mrs. Davis' fourth grade, the students have been doing Thanksgiving writing also. They have been creating original Thanksgiving stories, and using the Thanksgiving theme in their Spanish lessons.

Last Friday evening, the Holmes Book Company made their presentations for this year's winners. Orinda School was honored by Friedel Braumoeller, a third grader in Mrs. Hicks' room, who won a second prize for her entry, Space Monkey. Mrs. Hicks, who attended the presentations, found it exciting to see so many young people and their parents enjoying the recognition that was being given them. It was obvious that they were going to enjoy spending their prize money getting ready for next year's contest.

Glorietta: Hippos

The third graders in Room 1 at Glorietta School are proud of their classmate, Michele Ferrone.

Michele entered the Children's Book Week Contest (sponsored by Holmes Book Store) and won Honorable Mention. Each contestant was to have wrtten a report on their favorite book. Michele picked the book, A Time to Sleep, by Millicent Selsam.

Here is her report:

"Hippopotamuses don't only sleep close to each other, they sleep on each other. They are all stacked together, just one big heap of hippos. They are using each other as pillows, and none of them seems to mind. Their heads are resting on their neighbors' backs, each has a pillow. All are happy except the little hippos. When the huge head of a big hippo goes down on a little one, there are bound to be squeals until the little hippo wriggles out from under."

Advisory Board Proposition Receives Tw'-Thirds Vote

By ANN LINCOLN and TOM FERGUSON

The amendment to the Miramonte Constitution which would establish a student advisory board was voted upon by the student body last week. The proposition received the required two-thirds vote of the student body to put it into effect. The chief justice of the advisory board for this school will be elected sometime in early December.

During a lunch period last week the brothers decided to hold a revival meetin' on the Senior Lawn. Rick Bagley led the group as he pretended enthusiastically to read from the scriptures. It was quite a meetin'.

For a number of kids the high point of the day did not come until seventh period. I am speaking of Public Speaking. Miss Moser, our regular teacher, thought it wise not to come to school on this day I presume, and therefore the class was given a substitute. The students were told to make up a topic for an ad lib speech and put it into a hat. The chairman of the day was Richard Miles. The speeches just seemed to get funnier and funnier as the speakers seemed to stray somewhat from their topics. It was a great day in speech and one which neither the students nor the teacher will forget.

The annual tradtion of Sadie Hawkins Day was observed Friday around Miramonte. It was enlivened considerably by some of Our Senior "brethren," mainly Tom Ferguson, Phil Stevens, John Walker, Andy deGrassi, Bill Carroll, Rick Layne, Bob Carpenter, Duane Chase, Dich Lyman, Don White, Dick Allen, Robert Boyle and Pete Read.

Robert Boyle shocked everyone with his fire engine red hair-do, John Walker in bright pink and Tom Ferguson with a mixture of blue, green and lavender. Others whose hair colors changed along with their attire were Linnet Trefits with gold, Linda Jones in silver and Jill Taylor with black locks and green highlights.

Jean Macri came to school in a Goodwill Bag. A mob of senior girls came dressed in big leather jackets and motorcycle boots. Some of those included were JoAn Hall, Kathy Stafford, Charlotte Kimball, Anne Blow, Sally Holabird and Jan Miller.

A few like Karen Weatherbee, Barb Syverud, Sue Cox, Carol Pederson and Bette Schoppe were seen in lace-trimmed burlap sacks. At noon those who had violated the "girls can't talk to boys" rule of the previous day had to participate in a sack race.

This eventful day was climaxed by a professional assembly given by three seniors from Cal, appropriately calling themselves the "Californians." They sang folk songs in Kingston Trio style. The last part of the performance had everyone in the auditorium in stitches, even the administrators.

That night g,irls grabbed their dates and headed to school for the Sadie Hawkins Dance entering by a very slippery slide. The theme was "Dogpatch, New York." All seen there were having a great time.

Fresh Look at Transit Financing Is Suggested

Walnut Creek Councilman Douglas Page took the initiative towards what he believes should be a rejuvenation of prospects for the proposed Bay Area Rapid Transit, Monday night during a council study session.

It is likely, he believes, that Contra Costa County, one of the five counties now included in the Transit District, will vote against the $900,000 bond issue, which will finance high speed commuter trains into Oakland and San Francisco.

However, there are several possibilities, which the Walnut Creek city staff should look into, he said.

STAFF reports should be referred to the council, and recommendations may then be made to the County Mayors Conference, the County Board of Supervisors and the Bay Area Division of the League of California Cities.

Page suggested three new possibilities:

1. Raise the maximum tax limit the district can impose above the 15 per cent of the district's assessed valuation. Page believes the limit should be about 20 per cent.

2. Consider lowering the ⅔ favorable vote requirement to ⅝.

3. "DIG UP" other sources of revenue, with investigation of gas taxes and sales taxes. Objective is to lighten the tax burden on property owners.

Purpose of these would be to provide the district with increased money, enabling it to extend its initial transit lines to Concord and to Richmond, which cities have complained mightily about postponement of service to their areas.

The larger service area would greatly increase the voters' support in cities which might otherwise vote overwhelmingly against the transit bonds, Page indicated.

Other councilmen agreed with Page that there is a "sense of urgency" in obtaining rapid transit, and revisions must be considered soon, even though no election date has been set.

IF THESE or other proposals result from the staff and council recommendations, and later recommendations of higher government units, they must go to the State Legislature for consideration.

Page told The Sun: "We as an interested city may be able to provide some additional leadership through the Mayor's Conference. We certainly want to help put transit on a stronger basis."

Page added that there has also been talk about obtaining additional revenue from the Golden Gate Authority, and discussion has been held about admitting Santa Clara County to the district, widening the tax base.

It was also noted that at a recent meeting in Martinez, John Peirce, general manager of the transit district, told how the district is seeking federal aid for the system.

A bill providing "token assistance" was submitted last year, but did not pass both houses.

Newcomers Plan December Outing

The Newcomers Club of Orinda was created in the fall of 1957 to welcome new Orinda residents and help them to become more quickly acquainted with their neighbors and community. This social organization has grown from a mere handful to a current active membership of 80.

The third Wednesday of each month is the regular meeting date for a program, luncheon or field trip. Home and garden, gourmet, bowling, golf, bridge and canasta sections meet during the month. These smaller groups provide an excellent opportunity for fun and furthering friendships.

In November, the club held a bridge - canasta luncheon at the Orinda Country Club.

Next Saturday will find members in Oakland enjoying a gala pre-Christmas dinner-dance at the Athens Athletic Club. Programs and social events have been planned for 1961 by Mrs. Robert Stearns and Mrs. Oliver Granucci.

The club president, Mrs. Eugene Monroe, extends an invitation to all new residents in the Orinda area to attend any meeting as a guest, under no obligation to join. Any question regarding the club or its activities should be directed to Mrs. H. M. Polhamus, CL 4-3444, or Mrs. Blaine Dorsett, CL 4-8785.

Reapportionment Benefits Contra Costa County

When reapportionment to fit the official 1960 census figures is completed by the State Legislature next year Contra Costa County may become a self-contained Congressional District.

At present the Sixth District represented by Rep. John F. Baldwin covers Contra Costa and Solano Counties. Contra Costa's 450,180 people are entitled to a district of their own with the new population average for congressional districts set at 410,500.

If the shift is made, Solano County will probably be added to some now adjoining congressional district, without entailing an additional congressman.

The meeting will take place at 8 p.m. at the PG&E Building, 1535 Bonanza, Walnut Creek.

Walnut Crop Payment Due In December

Paul Dobson of Exeter, president of Diamond Walnut Growers, Inc., announced that the Association will make the second advance payment on the 1960 Walnut Crop early in December.

This payment will be about $6½ million, and will average about 8 cents in-shell per orchard run pound for the Association's 10,000 grower-members.

"It reflects the excellent financial condition as well as the very good sales position of the Association this year," Dobson declared.

Dramateurs Succeed in Difficult Wolfe Showing

By LARRY GLAZIER

One of the finest opening night performances in the heralded histrionic history of the Dramateurs was recorded last Friday night when the local little theatre group did itself proud in "Look Homeward, Angel."

The play, adapted by Ketti Frings from Thomas Wolfe's autobiographical novel of the same name, will be shown by the Dramateurs at their Lafayette Town Hall home base weekends through December 10.

The fact that the local theatre group is the first one in the Bay Area to secure performance rights for the play is indicative of how difficult a task the local players took on. And furthermore, the fact that the casting was done on a strictly local basis is another source of credit for the group.

It is true that Miss Frings' work, which won acclaim from the New York theatre critics, may not have captured Wolfe's entire feeling, but if the playwright had sought to encompass the whole novel the play might have run for five or six hours.

AS IT STANDS, the play portrays the 17th year in the life of a talented and sensitive young man — Eugene Gant (Wolfe) — who is attempting to sever himself from the bind of a too-possessive mother.

Especially noteworthy in the performance is the scene where Ben Gant, Eugene's older brother and "hero image," lies on his deathbed in "Dixieland," the uninspiring Carolina boarding house operated by his mother.

This particular scene, with able direction on the part of Carl Rasmussen, is a highly-moving one, and portrays the best of each of the actors involved.

AS BEN GANT, the striving newspaperman who develops tuberculosis by always having "a cigarette in one hand and a cup of coffee in the other," James Shanks emerges as one of the more "real" personalities in the play.

Gary Elder was very impressive as Eugene Gant, and James Harris gave a lively interpretation to the role of Eugene's father, a stone-cutter whose ideal is never quite realized.

IN OTHER PARTS, Marylyn Hansen as the girl with whom Eugene falls in love; Frank Pratt as Eugene's realtor-uncle; and Ray Howard as sailor Luke Gant did commendable jobs.

Expert Says All Families Need Holiday Traditions

By CONNIE PIKE

I've been reading that all families worthy of the name have traditions for holidays. And if they have none, they set their imaginations to work and invent some, to be handed down to their children along with the family silver.

Traditions presumably offer security to the children.

You know, where every one sits around a blazing fire with a bowl of popcorn and father reads aloud while mother plays the organ.

Well, it got me to thinking and I was able to come up with a few for a starter.

LIKE THE TRADITION of catching the turkey. At our house the whole family joined in this jolly game. The mother would bring home a fat turkey on Saturday before Thanksgiving and stake him out in the back yard.

We would admire him until Wednesday morning and chatter about what a big dinner he would make. But the day before he was scheduled to get the axe, some soft-hearted one among us would slip out and turn him loose.

He couldn't get out of the yard, we knew. That would have been going too far and it would have been our necks. But we untied him and the rest was up to him. If he couldn't make his escape, well . . .

The mother's Thursday morning question was traditional. "Who let the turkey loose?" she would ask, and we would all keep silent. Giving up a hopeless position, she would bundle us into warm clothes and send us out to catch him.

WE PUT enthusiasm into the chase and made lots of noise to fool the mother. But to expect us to catch that poor turkey so the father, with one swift stroke of the axe, could separate him from his head, was asking too much. Besides, I was afraid he would peck me. Who would blame him?

So we did not catch the turkey.

Presently the father would appear with a small ceremony of his own which consisted of strong strides and colorful language. He captured the turkey.

Then it was necessary for the father to find the axe, which we had hidden at the time we turned the turkey loose. Since we were not too original in the hiding place, he always found it, under the wood pile. It was off to the chopping block.

WE WOULD join mother in the kitchen where she alternately rolled out pie crust and plugged her ears, so as not to hear the turkey's final squawk. She always ended up with floury ears.

After the slaughter, we were assigned to plucking the turkey, and it was our happy custom to fight over the tail feathers, which we saved to play Indians. After giving the turkey into the mother's capable hands, we began our Indian play.

The sky would be heavy with grey clouds and the air sharp with impending snow as we whiled away the afternoon with bloody battles.

The brothers were usually the Indians and the sisters the pioneer women. Just as we were about to be burned alive, soft flurries of snow would descend and the mother would call us to dinner.

WE WOULD eat ourselves into lethargy and the mother would compel us to clear the dining room. Then we were free to take our sleds out.

We felt the snowflakes and tasted them, catching them on our tongues. We tried to force the sleds over rough ground on which the snow melted as it touched.

We finished up the day by having another piece of pie and going to bed, after toasting ourselves at the fire.

There seems little here to hand down. No fight to a finish with a fat turkey, no Indian headbands to make, no snow.

OUR TURKEY is captured at the super market and secured in the oven, where he is joined presently by two frozen pies and some quick-bake rolls. We thaw the vegetables and decorate the table.

We ask some friends in and watch the football game on television.

We could establish a game of "Sit around the television," or play word games like, "What is an axe?" or "What is a turkey feather?" or better still, "What is a sled?"

Perhaps we could show the children how to sift flour, against the time they might need such knowledge. At the least, we'd have some floury faces around the house.

A trip to the ice skating palace after dinner might put us in the wintry mood, and in the evening we could plan a trip to the snow.

And although I promised myself I wouldn't mention it, we could sing a couple of choruses of "Over the River and Through the Woods."

With piano.

Are You Ready To Start Christmas Preparations?

By YVONNE MAUZEY

November 25th, one more month until Christmas. Are you ready to start your Christmas baking and shopping after the stuffing of yesterday?

Maybe I shouldn't remind you, and let you reminisce for awhile of the Thanksgiving day just past and of the guests and the feast. Of nibbling leftovers for the coming weekend. Some of you probably still have guests over this four-day holiday.

So I will report the news and let you dream of and relax from the Thanksgiving just past and not mention the preparations for the holidays ahead.

The new officers of the Moraga Valley Community Club are: President, Vince Young; vice president, Bruce Barclay; secretary, Dolores Camparile; treasurer, Roberta Cunningham; board of directors, Lynn Casto, Earl Simpkins, Cam Ashby.

Joe and Betty LeBlond had a baby boy, 8 pounds 2½ ounces, born at 11:33 p.m., November 15. He was named Joseph after his father and as of now the girls have chosen Paul for the second name. Mother and baby both doing fine.

A baby shower was given at the home of Shirley Frey, 23 Lynch Court, for Albe Kostyrks. The home was done in the beautiful theme of orchid and white. These are Albe's favorite colors and she is doing the nursery for her future son or daughter in them. There were 17 guests and a beautiful array of gifts.

Last Tuesday Mary Morgan gave a surprise coffee shower in the morning for Ann Troy, who is also expecting.

As I said before, babies this year are blooming as the flowers of Moraga. At the present birth rate we had better build schools faster than ever before.

Some figures were quoted at the last board meeting on school increase: nationwide, 50 per cent; California, 250 per cent; Contra Costa, 400 per cent, and schools are popping up all over.

The Camino Pablo School is coming along fine even though the rains have held the workmen up for a few days.

Have you noticed the clearing for the new high school across from Rutherford Park? The bond issue for the school will be voted on February 14 and needs a two-thirds vote to pass. Be sure to read your papers, as much will be printed about this issue in the coming month, and you will want to know how to vote.

At present they intend to start the freshman class in the fall of '62 and increase one class each year for four years to include 1350 students. The radius will cover Glorietta, part of Lafayette and the Rheem area. Miramonte's radius covers Orinda and Orchard Dell.

Another proposed high school which will be across the freeway in Orinda will cover the country club area and Sleepy Hollow. There will also be an increase in the classrooms of the existing schools to accomodate another 100 students, to bring them up to 1350.

The proposed high school by Rutherford Park will be built on the same plan as the Del Valle School, and will cost approximately $3½ million.

I am sorry to hear that Jackie Perisho of 14 Pimentel Court, and her family are being transferred to Los Angeles. We will miss her and all her good work with the Cubs as den mother, and refreshment chairman for the Parents' Club. Hope you will like your new home, Jackie, and have as many friends there as here.

Willie Pemmons and family of Orchard Dell are viewing Dean Martin of the Sands in Las Vegas. From there they will go on to Arizona, Nevada and Mexico for a tour of several weeks.

Happy vacation, wish we were with you.

Last week Dorothy Matthews had a surprise party for her husband's birthday, with old friends from college days and new friends from Orchard Dell. I gather he was really surprised when he came back from next door to check on the children and the whole group of 16 was there.

Does anyone know of a good used piano? Rheem School would like to purchase one for use with the choral groups and glee club. Anyone with information, call Mr. Toll, principal of Rheem School.

The Sleeping Beauty Ballet is being presented at Miramonte for the Christmas program. Children, $1; adults, $2. The ballet will be presented December 5 and tickets are on sale at Safeway.

The school informs me new evacuation notices are to be sent out. I think many of us have changed our minds since last year on evacuation procedures.

The Parents' Club board voted to make a recommendation to sponsor Boy Scout Troop 212, led by Mr. McIver. This is a sponsorship in name only and will take no funds from the club.

Here is something for parents of both the future Camino Pablo School and the present Rheem School to think on, since the decision will be theirs at the start of next year.

Should we split into two Parents' Clubs, or continue as one working for both schools? Is the community large enough to support two parent clubs and the money-making activities of each? Orinda had one parent club for five schools before they split up. These questions and more will be brought up at parent club meetings. Come and air your viewpoints.

John Thune will give a talk about his Y group and how it was in Russia at the time of the U2 incident at the next meeting of the Moraga Parent Club, held the first Wednesday of December. I think some of his group will be with him.

The seventh and eighth grade students will be present with the parents to hear this talk on Russia. Mr. Thune's talk should bring out more men to this meeting. We are expecting a big group.

DEL VALLE DOINGS

By DAVID ANDERSON

Jack Kennedy's got nothing on Max Christiansen. Max was recently elected president also—of Del Valle's first sophomore class.

Del Valle held her first class elections with her second year of operation well under way. With a hard working student council already more than a year old, we hope the class organizations will aid in helping to foster class loyalty and spirit.

OTHER SOPHOMORES elected with Christiansen were Vicky Barnett, vice president; Cathy Abbott, secretary; Dan Ready, treasurer; and Jan Rector as our social secretary.

In their election, the freshmen elected Steve Hufft as president; Mark Silverman, vice president; Leslie McBride, secretary-treasurer; and Julia McMeans, social secretary. The frosh also selected three cheerleaders: Vickie Halbert, Joan Freiburghouse, and Toby Lorenzen.

Last Saturday the Rally Committee, headed by Jeanine Yoemans, held a garage-to-garage car wash. In an effort to raise funds for their young (but empty) treasury, Rally Committee members canvassed the area to give $1 car washes. Working from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., the exhausted committee washed about 30 cars and gained a net of $30 for their treasury.

INCIDENTALLY, the Rally Committee has done an excellent job in its first three months of existence in keeping spirits high. As well as putting on game rallies, and sponsoring a dance, they entered a Del Valle float in the Walnut Festival parade.

Nice going, Rally!

Del Valle's basketball season swings into gear Thanksgiving Eve with the Trojan cagers playing San Ramon at Danville. Playing a 20 game junior varsity schedule, we hope to have a real successful season under Coach Doug Pederson.

A new sport was born in Trojanland as wrestling has just been offered for the first time as an extracurricular activity. Under the direction of Coach James Livingson, the 30 boys who turned out for the sport hope to bring home a string of victories this year.

Last week it was "Blue Tuesday" instead of "Blue Monday" at Del Valle as cries of "No more TV for a month" or "No more dances until February" were heard at home. You guessed it, those little white devils which raise so much havoc at home . . . REPORT CARDS!!

Boulevard Center Strip Is Finally a Reality!

Tuesday was a red letter day for all of Lafayette!

That was the day—in case you haven't noticed yet—that the first concrete was poured for the center planting strip on Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

BY QUITTING time Tuesday evening, the contractors, McGuire and Hester, had completed two full islands of the center strip outline—those immediately east and west of the intersection of Mt. Diablo Boulevard and Moraga Road.

The strip is being installed as a combined traffic control and beautification device. Its construction is part of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District's sewer installation.

When the concrete has been poured for the entire strip (to just west of the Cape Cod House), the contractors will place dirt within the islands and the sanitary district will be asked to accept the project.

ONCE THIS is accomplished, the county will plant trees, shrubs and colorful plants in the median according to landscape plans drawn by Aaron Green of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, who is developing a master plan for Lafayette.

The pink liquid which is being sprayed over the concrete as it is poured and molded is a preservative which will wear off in a short period of time, according to Stanford White, president of the Lafayette Design Project.

White said the actual installation of the center strip is the realization of many years of hope and a full year of hard work on the part of many Lafayette citizens. The design project, the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce and other citizens have overcome many obstacles in the last 11 months in order to realize the project.

THE DESIGN PROJECT official also explained that in conjunction with the center strip, the pedestrian timer on the signals at Moraga Road has been extended from 12 to 20 seconds for greater convenience.

He cautioned pedestrians to be sure they push the button on the light standard in order to obtain the full 20 seconds for crossing the street.

A new type machine is being used for the first time in this area to mold and pour the concrete, White stated. After an adhesive substance has been affixed to the ground, the machine pours the cement and the nicely shaped curbs are installed.

Supervisors OK Lighting District

The third step in modernizing Lafayette was assured Tuesday when Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors approved the petition for establishment of County Service Area L-15 and set the date for public hearing on December 27 at 10 a.m.

The County Boundary Commission approved the boundaries set forth for the lighting district on November 9. The proposed boundaries were submitted by Lou Repetto, president of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce, and Stanford White, Lafayette Design Project.

The area follows Mt. Diablo Boulevard from Third Street on the east, to the Red Mill west. The freeway marks the northern boundary and on the south the area extends to the Lafayette School.

Properties fronting Mt. Diablo Boulevard and those fronting Moraga Road are included. The county service area L-15 also provides for street sweeping and

Senior Citizens To Meet Thursday

The regular monthly meeting of the Lafayette Senior Recreation Center (Senior Citizens) is scheduled for the first Thursday of the month.

The center is organized to provide a means for senior citizens of the Lafayette and surrounding community to meet others of their generation and thereby extend their acquaintance and association. Many of the present members have made so many fine friendships through the center, and it is expected that many more will continue to do so, representative Norman E. Rocker said.

Any senior citizens (50 years or older) in the community are invited to attend the December 1 meeting at 12 o'clock at the Lafayette Veterans Memorial Hall opposite the Post Office.

Be Like Noah and Prepare For The Waters Early . . .

Are you ready for the floods?

Naturally, you will say to yourself, "It may rain pretty hard this winter, but I won't get flooded out."

Naturally—it's always the other fellow that suffers the damage.

Well, if you'll stretch your memory back a couple of years, you'll remember that we had what the engineers and weather people call a "50 year rain."

This means that this is the kind of an extended storm that we can statistically expect to occur every 50 years.

THEY ALSO speak darkly of "100 year storms."

But there is one fly in the ointment. Just because you had a 50 year storm a couple of years ago doesn't mean that you won't get one this year, too. Or a 100 year storm, for that matter.

It's sort of like flipping a coin. You know that statistically it will come up heads 50 per cent of the time. But you can also flip tails three times in a row.

Just where would you be if a 50 year —or 100 year—storm came along next week?

You might say to yourself, "Well, I live on high ground in Orinda (or Lafayette or Danville, for that matter) so I don't have to worry about it. Let those poor suckers who live next to the creek worry about it."

Not so. If you will remember again, almost as much damage was done in the "hilly" country the last time we had a bad storm as occurred in the "lowlands."

THE VILLAIN in this picture, of course, was mud, not water. But mud can be worse, as many people know to their sorrow.

So, all this black prognosticating. What can we do about it? If you live in the "lowlands" you can take some heart from the fact that the flood control district has completed its interim channel clearing project, and this will help some.

But even the experts point out that this will be little help against even a 50 year storm.

If you live on high grounds, now is the proper time to take a look at the hillsides surrounding your home. Is there anyplace you can build a retaining wall that will divert a mudslide?

IS THERE any kind of temporary bulwark you can put up that will protect you in case of heavy rains?

Remember, we have had two "dry" years in a row now, and sooner or later Mother Nature is going to make up the difference. She'll make it up the only way she can — with an abundance of water, and we might get it all at once.

It's better to have a temporary—even unsightly — retaining wall in the back patio than a house full of slimy mud.

Ask some of the people in Rheem. They'll remember.

And what if you live down by the creek banks? We would suggest that you see a film recently put out by the Contra Costa County Disaster Office called "When Water is the Enemy."

IT WAS FILMED right here in the county, and gives some excellent hints on how to avert damage from standing water, and how to best protect against shallow waters.

There are also booklets available from the county disaster office that will be of help to you if you plan to take action before the floods come.

And we can only hope that they don't come.

If they do, we hope that we won't have to run a picture of your house on the front page, with soggy furniture in it, and mud oozing in the sills.

A word to the wise . . . ?

It's Pleasant, Too . . .

Do your Christmas shopping early!

How many times have you heard that statement already!

Admittedly it is easier to do your shopping now than it is later. But you know, we who live here are really in a rather fortunate position. Certainly compared to those who live in Oakland and San Francisco, anyway.

We have some excellent shops carrying almost every variety of merchandise you can think of, right here in our own community.

AND THEIR hours are such, and parking is such, that you can go almost at will and get immediate service. And get what you want, too.

It's a little early to talk about returning those Christmas presents—you know, the antimacassar the cousin Emmy will give you, that just doesn't quite fit in with the Swedish modern living room furniture.

But if you do want to return some of the little items, think of how much easier it is just to drop down to the local shop and exchange your purchase.

More friendly, too. Then there's the cost item.

Consider that prices here are competitive with prices anywhere in the area, especially the East Bay, where overhead is considerably higher.

But assuming that two items are the same price. By the time you drive through the tunnel, have lunch (it takes longer to shop there, you know) pay for a parking space, and return home, you have added considerably to the cost of your purchase.

And if you have to return an item, you can just double the overhead.

THEN THERE'S the point of service. Your local merchant has to live here. More than likely, he's your neighbor. He cares about what he sells you, because his reputation is his livelihood.

So much for the selfish reasons for shopping right here at home. There is one other. Your merchant pays taxes, right here in this community. He helps support the schools which your children attended, and he's helping to retire all those bond issues for all those special districts that provide our community services.

(And he's the guy who provides a donation when your club needs a gift to give away at the next luncheon, too.)

If you consider it objectively, there is no reason for shopping anywhere else but here. You benefit and the community benefits.

Happy Christmas shopping!

The Staff Corner

A Good Sales Lesson . . .

By LARRY GLAZIER

Chambers of commerce throughout the nation, and in the central county area as well, have had the problem of coping with high-pressure door-to-door salesmen and "phony solicitors" for as long as one cares to remember.

For the most part, these salesmen are representing publishing firms, which try to get unwary young housewives to invest in magazines which seem to never arrive.

When the amount of money involved is small — such as would be the case with magazine subscriptions — one is angry with the salesman or saleswoman, and the housewife usually accepts the attitude that she has paid this amount of money to learn a good lesson.

BUT WHEN the amount of money involved reaches into the hundreds of dollars, one's blood curdles at the thought of these high-pressure tactics.

Take the case of the young daughter of a well-known central county resident. This girl recently married a graduate student at the University of California and she is expecting a child in the next few months.

Obviously, with her husband going to school full time and herself unable to work because of her condition, this youthful matron is having a not-too-easy financial time.

Several weeks ago, a representative of a leading vacuum cleaner firm visited the couple's home, told the girl and her husband that she (the visitor) was not a salesperson and proceeded to demonstrate the virtues of the vacuum cleaner.

TO MAKE the long, sad story a bit more brief, the representative told the newlyweds how they could have the vacuum "free of charge" by referring to the firm their friends. For each referral, the couple would receive $3. Monthly payments on the vacuum amounted to $11.75.

Unaccustomed to such sales tactics and impressed with the vacuum, the young man signed a contract with the company and agreed to keep the appliance.

It took only a few short moments after the saleslady had left for the husband to realize what he had done, and then he proceeded frantically to call the saleslady, her sales manager and whomever else could help him.

Eventually, contact was made with the company, and the couple was told they were out of luck, they had signed a contract and they were obligated.

Several days later, our young friends returned the cleaner to the company's Oakland offices. That same evening, several employes of the firm arrived at the front door and side window of the couple's apartment and began shoving parts of the vacuum into the apartment. The employes then left.

AFTER A NUMBER of sleepless nights, contact with attorneys and letters to the president of the company in the East, the newly-married couple succeeded in having the contract rescinded for a consideration of $20.

But there still remains the question of how long can these young people be victimized by high-pressure salesmen, who pass themselves off as do-gooders who want to show you how nice an item is.

With tactics such as these on the part of some of our firms young people can easily find themselves as defendants in a law suit or having to declare themselves as bankrupt. Both "outs" leave black marks on their future credit standing in the community.

Only the vigilance of residents can bring an end to these methods.

Be careful, hunters!

There Goes Thanksgiving & Here Comes Christmas!

By MARIE MONAHAN

WHILE THE WISHBONE dries on the windowsill & yesterday's turkey sits in its stripped & skeletal state, a sudden quickening of the pulse & pattern tells you that Christmas is just around the corner.

My, but the kitchen cupboards are crowded! Although the jars of mincemeat & cans of pumpkin, pickles & olives moved out yesterday & left a little more room for the gay array of candied cherries, citron & raisins that promise a kitchen warm with preholiday baking.

THE COOKBOOKS & recipe files are being put in order with cards for Cranberry Mold, Kringler & Pfefferneuse heading the priority list.

ON THE kitchen wall, a child's attempt to hurry the holidays by tacking up the tired but traditional Advent Calendar that awaits a Dec. 1 debut . . . A pink & gold angel has descended from WHERE, to dangle from a doorknob.

Under the telephone, a piece of paper bearing childish scrawls starts out "Things I'd Like for Christmas."

THE SEASON OF good things to eat started with yesterday's feasting . . . In the store, hills of walnuts, almonds, pecans & pistachios beckon you to fill a brown bag full . . .

As you sample a bit of leftover stuffing, the season of sounds & scents grows nearer.

What Ho & NO! But it IS! The first Christmas Tree lot over there on the corner & who in your block will have the First One Up? It's time to inhale the heady fragrance of pine, spruce & redwood . . . To buy cloves for spicy pomander balls . . . To reach to touch the shiny tangerines whose tangy scent permeate the produce counters.

From the radio, a first burst of a Christmas commercial (so soon?) followed by a first carol (Make a Wish!) . . . A jaunty version of Jingle Bells sends you digging out the seasonal discs one of which is the worn-out & wonderful record of Rudolph . . . The boy picks up his clarinet without any prodding to practice "Sleigh Ride" for the annual school Christmas concert.

WHILE YOU MUNCH a piece of mince pie, visions of sugar plums dance 'round in your head . . . The candy canes are out in their peppermint-striped glory & while you enjoyed your nap yesterday, the magnificent trees went up in town & city stores & SANTA rode in, not on sleigh, but by vintage car & helicopter.

Baubles, bangles & beads deck the dime store . . . The mailbox is loaded with Christmas gift catalogues, most of which rate only a passing glance because who wants to order by mail when half the fun is picking a gift out personally? Or waiting to wade through the waves of shippers in fevered frantic happy excitement . . .

YOU WONDER where you hid the gold spray . . . & what trinkets will require refurbishing! Probably the papier-mache Santa (he's always losing a leg) & the crepe-scene camel (whose head got dented last yuletide!)

You tucked away the gay tissue paper & rolls of satin ribbons but WHERE. . . . You'll never find them until the New Year is well under way! The same fate awaits those tiny prize packages you relegated to a secret hiding place at the top of the closet hall.

Pull up a chair, put on a fresh pot of coffee, poke up the fire & just relax! We might as well have a look at the Christmas card list. But you can't FIND it?

O Happy Happy Season . . . Here we go as usual!

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor:

I am enclosing some printed material in which I think you may find an interesting subject for an editorial.

The small clipping is from an article on charities published in—I believe—Look magazine about a month ago. Sorry I don't remember the exact date, but the table is self-explanatory.

You'll notice there is an inverse relationship between the number of cases and the amount of money contributed.

Mental health has the greatest number of patients but the lowest amount of contributions. Polio is at the opposite extreme.

I remember the very fine articles you wrote on fluoridation last year—and I feel that Mental Health is another subject greatly in need of public education.

STUPIDITY

Dear Editor:

You quote Lyle Wilson of the United Press International in your Under The Sun column of November 10 as follows: "When the men from Mars arrive on earth, they will want for their collection a U.S. Taxpayer to place in their zoo. They will have a sign on it reading: 'Sturdiest and most stupid earth animal—dangerous when aroused, etc.' "

YOU GO ON TO SAY, "Research will not discover that the U.S. taxpayer ever—at least not recently—has done anything effective to protect himself against the wastrels of his money or to ease the burden imposed on him. That qualifies him for stupidity."

I am amazed . . . that you did not know that a resolution was introduced in the Congress seven years ago to repeal the personal income tax amendment. That it was reintroduced by Congressman James B. Utt of California in the 1959 Congress.

I ENCLOSE several pieces of literature to help you become more conversant with this tax cutting movement, now known as the Proposed 23rd Amendment, which has many backers and is progressing toward getting enough state legislatures to memorialize Congress into putting the measure up to national vote.

One card is published by National Committee for Economic Freedom, 6413 Franklin Avenue, Los Angeles 28, Calif.

The above should give you enough information to know that there is a very strong and active movement on to remove the epitaph of the Martians from the American taxpayers as "The stupidest animal on earth."

CLIFFORD REA

BEAUTY

Dear Editor:

It has been called to my attention that the local stores do not think the buyers consider the appearance of this town nor the individual stores when they make a purchase.

As a 14 year resident of Lafayette I believe the store owners give us shopping women too little credit for the aesthetic. My aim is to let them know we are delighted to find a beautiful planter area with provision for center strip lights is not only talked about but is an actuality.

BUT AT THIS TIME can't something be done about that outstanding eyesore—the electric and telephone poles marching down the street?

On various European trips I have reflected that the only reason our cities will never be as attractive as many simple European villages is SIGNS. Must we ruin our otherwise attractive buildings with outsized, overcolored ones?

HAS ANYONE ever thought of needed tennis courts at Upper Happy Valley turnoff flat area on the basis that it might not be too much more expensive than shrubs and night lighting with a 50 cent slot might mean real pleasure for many.

Thank you for letting me use your paper, to which we have subscribed these 14 years, to voice my opinions so that our merchants might know that we housewives like our eyes to be pleased with what we see daily as we shop in OUR TOWN.

MRS. T. R. SANDBERG

FOR MILLER

Dear Editor:

This is written because the writer feels that our area owes a vote of thanks to our re-elected State Senator George Miller Jr. for the unselfish way in which he spent his time and his energies battling Propositions One and 15 which he felt were so detrimental to his constituency.

The writer knows that on at least two occasions during his campaign for re-election, Senator Miller went down to Los Angeles to assist in the fight against these two propositions.

WILLIAM S. SIMPSON

THANK YOU

Dear Editor:

Through the medium of your newspaper, I would like to express my warmest thanks to the voters of Contra Costa and Solano Counties for their tremendous vote of confidence in the November 8th election.

These voters gave me a winning margin of approximately 34,000 votes. This is two and one-half times greater than my largest victory margin in any previous campaign.

I deeply appreciate the trust and confidence of the citizens of this Congressional district, and will endeavor to do my utmost to carry out that trust and confidence faithfully in serving them in the House of Representatives.

JOHN F. BALDWIN,
Representative in Congress,
Sixth District.

Under The Sun

Do You Use The Sun To Wrap Your Garbage?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

"We like The Sun — it fits our garbage can perfectly!"

This was the first sentence of lengthy comment that one reader wrote on The Sun's Five Minute Questionnaire. Remember, some weeks ago we printed a questionnaire on the front page asking you to check what you read and how often. On the back was space for comment.

The response was excellent. Four hundred and two questionnaires were returned and 350 of you good readers took the time to write suggestions and criticism. Many sent words of praise and encouragement; some were bitterly critical.

Do you want black or white?

We value both, but the staff is now studying the critical comments and ideas, so that we can improve the paper. We value this comment because it can help us give you what you want. One major problem is that some people want certain features or coverage and others want just the opposite.

Here is a prime example: "I would prefer one Sun, so I could see news of Lafayette, Orinda, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill. Perhaps this would take more paper but I would think there would be savings in only one Sun."

Another representative comment: "Please give us news only of our own community."

This is a tough problem. Yes, we could save money by giving you ALL the news of all four communities. It would be easy to do this. We believe, however, that most people want a newspaper tailored to their own community and that is our goal.

News of other towns

This does not preclude printing important or interesting news of your neighboring town in your paper. We try to do this; we will do a better job in the future.

Today, let's run through some of the comments sent us with the questionnaires. My comment will be in parenthesis.

"You seem to have an extraordinarily high opinion of yourself which is often galling." (No comment.)

"Would like to see school news expanded, as well as cafeteria menus printed." (Coverage of all schools has been broadened and, acting upon this suggestion, we are now printing school menus, if cafeterias are operated in a district.)

"You should publish fewer letters-to-the-editor from organizations thanking you for publicity. These are space wasters. . ." (You are so right. We never used to print them and will not do so in the future, unless there is a reason.)

Too much news?

"There does seem to be a tremendous amount of society, church, etc. coverage — too much for me, but understandable since it is for other readers." (Obviously we print much material that will not be read by everyone. We may print a full page of organization or church news; you may be interested in only one story — or none at all. But it is our job to cover the entire community.)

"May I suggest a crossword puzzle?"

"How about some good recipes?"

"Book and movie reviews. . ."

(The Sun now sends you as many as 50 pages per week and we still don't have enough room to cover community news. It is our policy not to offer you such features until we give you the very best in local coverage.)

Calendar of events?

"I would like to see a Calendar of Events column." (We published one for years, expending much time and effort on it. As a test, it was discontinued for a few weeks to see what reaction we would receive. Very little reaction, so it was never reinstated.)

"We feel the editor dogmatically rides many issues to death. . ." (I agree, but we do not print editorials or put a spotlight on a "bad situation" to be popular or to build readership. Sometimes we discuss a situation until we, too, are tired of it but it is important and should not be dropped. Examples: gambling, county taxes or dances after high school athletic events.)

"Improve the make up. . ." (I hope you note the make up changes, particularly on inside pages.)

More political news?

"More news about county government, board and commission meetings, etc." (This was requested several times. We thought we were offering too much "heavy news" but will analyze this entire area of coverage.)

"One thing I am disappointed about the Sun — no American Legion news. . ." (From time to time, we get similar comments from other organizations, too. The answer: if the Legion or any organization sends us news, it will be printed. Sometimes a club publicity chairman tells his president that he sent a release to a newspaper, when the chairman actually did not. The newspaper is blamed.)

(There are hundreds of organizations in our area. We must depend upon them to send their news. True, we occasionally goof but ordinarily your news releases will be published. Of course, they will be edited first.)

Ouch, this hurts!

"The columns written about the Silverman family are dull and ridiculous." (I am guilty since I occasionally refer to my family in this column — usually to illustrate a point. A dull point?)

These are just a few of the comments.

I want to thank you readers for taking the time to help make The Sun a better paper. We will do our best.

3,978 MILES TO THE GALLON!

Castro Valley's Ben Rolphe still gets 12 miles to a gallon of gas with his 1910 Stevens-Duryea. But how about this: Ben's elderly Stevens gets 3,978 miles of protective cooling from a single gallon of EBMUD's pure, filtered water!

That gallon of EBMUD water costs Ben only one fortieth of a cent. That's less than it cost when Ben's Stevens was new! Which is just another way of saying that you have the lowest water rates in the Bay Area.

This Family Really Adds Zest to Community Life

By JEAN JERNIGAN

There's a little girl in Danville, just five years old, who has the wonderful good fortune of having four big brothers and parents who are beloved in the community for their active participation in local affairs.

Jamie, whose real name is Mary Virginia, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Stimpson of 20 Denim Lane, Danville, Fred, 17, a senior at a ranch school in Arizona; Peter, 16, a junior at San Ramon High School; Bob, a freshman at San Ramon High and Terry, 10, a fifth grade student at Montair School, are her brothers.

CHARLES AND Mary Stimpson, who met at a relative's ranch in Canada on a vacation trip, are the parents of this wonderful family. Mary Stimpson was born in China and educated there until coming to the United States to attend Stanford University. Her family lived in China during her youth because her father was associated with the Ford Motor Company there.

Charles Stimpson, who graduated from Pomona, is never too busy to pitch in and help with his big family. Mrs. Stimpson said, "He's just wonderful, really pitches in and helps. In fact, all the children are helpful, too, and that's one big reason why we can take part in outside activities."

Mrs. Stimpson, who was busy cooking a turkey for PTA when interviewed, was president of the Montair PTA the first year the school opened. Serving as co-president was her husband.

SHE HAS been a den mother, served on the ways and means committee of the San Ramon High School PTA and held every office in the Volunteer Bureau.

In addition to holding PTA offices, Mary Stimpson is known in Danville as the kind of person who can be depended upon to help when help is needed, whether its cookies for a room party . . . or a turkey for a special event.

Her interest in the Volunteer Bureau began when she was a member of the Oakland Junior League and started doing typing for the volunteer bureau as part of her community service as a league member.

REALIZING the tremendous need so many agencies have for volunteer help, her interest in the bureau continued and as president, she encourages everyone with some time to give, to investigate serving in this way.

"The Volunteer Bureau is for all ages," she explained. "We have placed many teen agers as well as adults. Interested people come into the bureau office at 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek and we interview them to determine where their particular abilities are most needed and where they will be happiest in serving as a volunteer.

"In addition to routine office work, we place many volunteers in county agencies, Juvenile Hall, health clinics and the like. We are busy now, working on our Christmas program, 'Santas Anonymous.'

"THE VOLUNTEER Bureau is now a Crusade Agency, but we need all the help we can get," Mrs. Stimpson concluded.

Charles Stimpson equals his wife in enthusiasm for community work. He is on the board of church directors for San Ramon Congregational Church, sergeant at arms for the Walnut Creek Rotary Club and is scout master of Troop 206.

Both parents recently learned to play golf and it is tops on their fun list. Early risers, they play tennis every week, too. Spending their summers in Canada with their children, the Stimpsons also like to fish and swim.

Mrs. Stimpson and the children ski, but "something always seems to happen to my husband during the first hour," she said. ruefully. She meant things like breaking his leg.

HOWEVER, Mr. Stimpson is an avid duck hunter and doesn't seem to miss the thrills of skiing with any great mental anguish.

Son Fred sharaes the family interests in all sports, as does his brother Peter. Peter is one of the six finalists chosen for the AFS program this year. He won't know until spring whether he will be going abroad or not, but it's an exciting thought to contemplate.

Bob, too, is a sports fan, both as a participant and a spectator. Terry is a member of the Cubs, the "Y" Indians and wrapped up in school affairs.

Despite being the only girl, Mrs. Stimpson said, "Jamie is ALL GIRL. She's easy going, has a marvelous disposition and loves to go to school."

Five wonderful children don't just happen, and as their Danville neighbors know, the Stimpsons have put their love and energies towards building a worthwhile happy family.

SPORTS enthusiasts, the Charles R. Stimpson family of Danville are equally interested in community affairs. Pictured from left are Charles Stimpson with arm around daughter "Jamie". Standing behind Jamie is Mary Stimpson. The boys from left are Terry, Bob and Peter, kneeling. Son Fred is at school in Arizona and not pictured. —Sun photo by Bob Rush.

Danville Juniors' Auction Is Tuesday

Since early autumn, the members of the Danville Junior Women's Club have been busy with many activities in the San Ramon Valley. Their participation in the recent Towhee Exhibit Tea at Mt. Diablo Country Club brought a "popular vote" award in the buffet table setting category.

Mrs. Nat Davis, chairman, created a display in the autumn colors, featuring as a centerpiece a pheasant nestled on a branch of colorful leaves.

The Danville Juniors were hostesses at a party for the elderly residents of Hillside Ranch in San Ramon recently. Nell Dennis of Alamo directed a dance program featuring 12 young dancing students.

Refreshments prepared by the Juniors were served following the show, announced Mrs. Donald Gray, chairman of the event. A holiday social is also planned at the ranch by the Junior Women's Club.

The major philanthropic project for the year is assistance to the new Danville Library. At the recent ground-breaking ceremonies, Mrs. Raymond L. Neff, president, presented a check for $250 to the Danville Library League for special equipment needed upon completion of the library.

Looking to the future, the immediate events planned by the club include a dessert - card party on Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. at the Danville Women's Club on Linda Mesa Avenue.

Tickets at $1.50 may be obtained by calling Mrs. Robert Brown. Many holiday gifts will be on display, and a festive Christmas theme will be noticed in the decorations and table settings. Proceeds benefit the Danville Library.

Saturday will mark the date of the club's winter social, at which time the Danville Juniors entertain their husbands and friends. Mrs. Nicholas Merriman of Alamo is chairman of the party, which will be held at the Danville Women's Club.

Justweds Honeymoon In Southern California

Bonnie Louise Sollenberger became the bride of Michael Fellers McGrew at ceremonies in Saint Paul's Episcopal Church recently.

White stock and gladioli decorated the church when Bishop Henry Shires performed the marriage ceremony. The bride's father, Warren Sollenberger, gave his daughter in marriage.

For her wedding the bride wore a white taffeta gown, trimmed at the neckline with lace. Seed pearls and lace roses added to the beauty of the gown, which had a chapel length train.

The bride's fingertip veil was held in place with a cap of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Sandie Kellums of San Jose was the maid of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Connie Ehlers and Dorothea Sollenberger, sister of the bride. Their gowns were fashioned from ice blue satin and they wore matching shoes.

Blue net, held at the top with a circle of blue flowers, formed their headdresses. They carried cascade bouquets of pink roses.

Mike Salfen was the groom's best man. The ushers were Jim Stegall and Ron Sollenberger, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Sollenberger chose a gown of blue embroidered satin for her daughter's wedding. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Dan McGrew, chose a sheath gown of otter color, with green hat and accessories. She wore a green orchid corsage.

After a reception at the Alamo Women's Club, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in San Leandro.

Carol Accornero Becomes Bride of Timothy Barrett

Carol Maxine Accornero became the bride of Timothy Michael Barrett at a nuptial mass recently at St. Augustine Catholic Church in Orinda.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Accornero of 5517 Telegraph Avenue, Oakland, and Max Accornero of San Francisco. She is a graduate of Holy Names High School in Oakland.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Frank Isola of Orinda, the bride wore a gown of imported Peruvian satin over ruffles of Chantilly lace.

Her veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown of pearls and crystals. The bride carried her late grandmother's prayer book, together with two white cattleya orchids surrounded by stephanotis.

Her maid of honor was Carla Cerruti. The bridesmaids were Joyce Gould, Doris and Dianna Isola, and Diane Muscadine, all cousins of the bride.

Mary Ann Freedberg, cousin of the groom, and Terri Lynn Gould, cousin of the bride, were flower girls. Their dresses were replica designs of the bridesmaid's. They carried bouquets of Nile green spider chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother wore a sable brown silk brocade sheath and a hat of cinnamon brown velvet. On her shoulder she wore two bronze orchids. A dress of mink colored silk faille with bracelet length sleeves and a soft full skirt was worn by the groom's mother. Her petal hat was hunter's green. Two green orchids adorned her costume.

The groom's cousin, Michael Mahan, was best man. Seating the guests were Bill Accornero, brother of the bride, Don Leonardini, Tom Leonardini and Ed Malowey. Serving as altar boy was Gary Freedberg.

A graduate of St. Mary's High School in Berkeley, the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Barrett of Orinda.

Following a reception at Lake Merrit Hotel in Oakland, the couple left for a honeymoon in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Couple Wed In Home Ceremony

Before an improvised altar flanked by pedestal candleabras and tall arrangements of white stock, Judybeth Spragens became the bride of Ron R. Korner on Thanksgiving Day.

The ceremony was performed by Lloyd O. Gaut of College Avenue United Presbyterian Church at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Fleming of Oakland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a short off-white brocade gown with a brief veil held by a crown of pearls. She carried an old fashion bouquet of carnations and stephanotis.

For her "something borrowed" the bride wore a diamond lavaliere given to her mother by her father at their wedding.

Totty Spragens, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a sheath and accessories in tones of autumn gold and bronze chrysanthemums. Her corsage was of gardenias with a ribbon of gold.

Rudy Vargas, a business associate of the groom for the past five years was the best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Spragens wore a blue sheath dress with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias and pink roses.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spragens of Lafayette, the bride is a graduate of Acalanes High School and attended Diablo Valley College.

The groom is the son of Donald E. Korner and the late Mrs. Korner. He attended college in Vancouver, Washington.

The couple plan to make their home in Oakland.

Del Valle Will Play As Jayvees

The Del Valle High School, with sophomores as the top class, will play a full junior varsity schedule this vear and ready themselves fo varsity play in 1961-62.

Doug Pederson, who came to the Del Valle Trojans by way Las Lomas, takes over the basketball reins after a stint as frosh football coach.

Del Valle rates as a good club on the basis of their play last season and have a number of promising candidates on hand.

The Trojans were to play at San Ramon Wednesday and travel again Tuesday as they are scheduled to play at College Park in a 3:30 p.m. game.

Slated to see action on the basis of their showing to date are Bob Kovats, Bill O'Toole and Dave Anderson in the forward spots. Coach Pederson, early in the week, rated Mal Cammeron and Max Christiansen tops at the center post, along with guards Dan Ready, Mike Muzum and Randy Quadros.

Mat, Hoop Starts Set for Wolves

The San Ramon High grapplers are to make their debut under new head coach Fred Houston Wednesday, when they travel to meet the Pittsburg Pirates.

Coach Houston has 44 candidates on hand and expects to come up with a good representative team as workouts to date have been most satisfactory.

He plans to build around six returning lettermen: Phil Bechtel, Don Rhett, Don Wallace, Bill Nedig, Jay Stevens and Bob Hodge.

In basketball the Wolves plan to test themselves early as they open the season with the strong Pittsburg Pirates Tuesday.

Coach Larry DeRushia's crew had problems last season in league play and things look far from rosy this season as he has but two veterans on hand. The veterans coming in fresh from football are guard Kent "Casey" Evans and forward Glenn Miller.

The Wolves play at College Park December 6 before entering the Miramonte tournament on December 9 and 10.

Don Grapplers To Open Season Against Devils

The Acalanes Dons are working hard to get ready for their wrestling opener with Mt. Diablo Wednesday.

The Dons meet the Red Devils in a 4:30 p.m. home meet and the squad of 57 has been hard at work to get ready and above all to fill the many gaps left by graduation.

Varsity lettermen on hand are Jim Booth in the 112 pound class up from 103; Rick Butler at 120, up from 112; Doug Southworth and Bob Bruno at 127, up from 120.

Denny Dahlgren and Mike Roach are lettermen at 133 as is Quentin Young at 138. Mark Mohler at 154 wrestled last year at 138, while Lee Egland at 175 is up from 158. Denny Toll at heavyweight rounds out the letter winners on hand.

Coach Erwin Mattson hopes to round out the squad with newcomers and those up from last year's junior varsity and frosh teams.

Prof Exits Gracefully By Picking Navy Team

BY SOSS OPPLE

Soss Opple warmed up a bit last week and comes back confident and strong as he calls the big one with Navy upsetting Army, 13-7. The goat proves to be too stubborn for the Army mule.

Mississippi winds up defeating Mississippi State, 23-19, while Georgia edges Georgia State, 20-13. LSU drops one to Tulane, 19-14, while UCLA, stinging from the USC defeat, raps Utah, 26-7, with USC liking their new-found muscles as they drop Notre Dame, 20-0.

Oklahoma, on the downgrade, still has enough to rise up and smite Oklahoma A&M, 13-6. Fresno State, riding high, has one of their best seasons as they nail College of Pacific, 13-6. Brigham Young is edged by Hawaii, 20-19.

Other scores: Vanderbilt 13, Tennessee 7; Wake Forest 19, South Carolina 20; Rice 14, Baylor 21; TCU 20, SMU 13.

In the pro ranks, Baltimore 28, San Francisco 20, while the Los Angeles Chargers outlast the Oakland Raiders, 23-21.

W.C. Man Leads Scoring in Ice Hockey Play

Two fast and exciting ice hockey games are played each week in Iceland, Ward and Milvia Streets, Berkeley.

Teams of the Northern California Ice Hockey League, representing San Francisco, Berkeley, Walnut Creek and Oakland, face off each Sunday at 6:30 and 8:15 p.m.

High scorer for the league is Bud Cook, skating coach of the Walnut Creek Warriors.

Frank DuCette, goalie for the Berkeley Bears, has a season record of 58 saves in one game, against the San Francisco Shamrocks.

College Park Will Open Against Trojans Tuesday

College Park High School opens the basketball season when they play Del Valle at home Tuesday.

Coach Jack Bonnickson is starting from scratch at the new school and the Falcons are expected to start slow with a lack of many experienced players, plus the fact there are no seniors on the squad.

The bright light is the fact that all hands return for play next year.

Top players to date are Eric Pratt, a transfer by way of Louisiana, along with center Mickey Sytkowski and guard Gary Giere, off of last year's Pleasant Hill Bees.

Slated for action at guard is Dennis Wallen and forward Don Wilson, another pair who played the hoop game last season with the Pleasant Hill Rams, with Wallen on the Bees and Wilson on the Jay Vees.

Knight Cagers Look Good

The basketball coaches are working overtime with their squads to get ready for the rapidly approaching season.

Merrill Callow at Las Lomas has been hard at it and has come up with a tentative starting group of seven, all but one of whom are letter winners.

ALL BUT ONE of the seven are seniors, with Bob Nichols, a 6-3 junior, holding forth at center.

Nichols, a veteran of last year's team, rates as one of the circuit's top pivot candidates, and should fight it out with Miramonte's Jack Gilbert for the top spot when all league honors are decided.

Las Lomas will go into competition for the first time when they make their bid in the Miramonte Jamboree to be played Friday and Saturday, December 9 and 10.

STARTING GUARDS will probably come from a trio of Harold Stephenson, 5-9; Rene Brandol, 5-7, and an up-and-coming graduate of the Bee squad in Rick Scott, 5-8.

Bud Murphy, 6-0; Rod Holcomb, 6-2, and Carrell Dunbar, 6-0, appear to be the three top candidates for the two starting forward spots.

Phil Marsh is another promising performer, up from the Bees, who could wind up as a starter before the season is over, as he has a good eye for the hoop and is a fine ball handler.

The first game outside of tournament play will be at Livermore December 13.

THE KNIGHTS wound up as co-champs with Acalanes last year, and certainly rate as a top contender to repeat this year, with Miramonte and Piedmont rated as the top rivals.

Acalanes, hit heavy by graduation plus a new coach and a new system, are strictly in the dark-horse class.

The Pleasant Hill Rams, playing in the Contra Costa division of the Diablo Valley Athletic League, are reaching deep down in the bag to come up with new prospects, as but three lettermen are on hand in Tom Tarantino and Terry Hughes, a pair of forwards, along with center Dick Tole.

COACH ART POULIN will depend in a good part on center Paul Murphy up from the junior varsity and Rick Roberts and Jim Sipher, two seniors who look good but lack experience.

Graduates from the Bee ranks will provide most of the candidates, with forwards Al Oxley, Gen Graham and Ken Friedenbach and guards Bruce deKat, Bob Jensen and Duane Rogers as top candidates.

The Rams got their first test under fire when they played host to the Alhambra Bulldogs Wednesday. Next week they travel to Livermore for a game with the cowboys on Friday, December 2.

A British doctor suggested the use of cow's milk as an emergency treatment for first and second degree burns. He recommends the immersion of the burned area in milk.

Large Crowd Proves That 'Big Game' Still Exists

By ERWIN MATTSON

The Cal-Stanford game is referred to as the "Big Game" and they proved that it is just that as they filled the Cal stadium with 80,000 fans Saturday, with most paying $5 per head to witness the spectacle.

The game, played between one club with but one win and the other without a single win, showed that the intense rivalry between the two will fill the stadium regardless of the caliber of the teams.

One thing certain, the Cal offense looked good, thanks in a large part to an inept Stanford line and Stanford, in turn, looked to be a powerhouse at times, thanks to a Cal line that was far from the greatest.

Some scribes and fans see a great revival at Cal due to the fact Cal won, 21-10.

This is truly wishful thinking, and it is doing anything but facing reality. Defeating Stanford is one thing and defeating top clubs is another. Stanford is at a low ebb and the way things look, the tide won't be in for a long time.

Getting down to the local level, the All League Football teams were released this week as selected by the coaches, and as usual, no one will agree with all of the selections, as it is pretty much a matter of individual opinion and in the end probably provides a means of controversy more than it does of a perfect selection.

Coaches in many ways are too close to the picture and are bound to be prejudiced in favor of their own players. The truth of the matter is that they have the poorest seat in the house to observe players from. It becomes a matter of human judging and at times a guessing game.

I know of one case where a rival coach told of the virtues and strength of an opposing player against his team, when in reality the player was injured and didn't even suit up that particular game.

The board of governors of the Foothill League held a meeting at Miramonte High Monday and came up with some new legislation that is bound to have some far reaching effects.

The rule pertains to moving players up and down from junior varsity or Bees to varsity teams. Up to now the rules varied in different sports but now it is uniform in that once the league play starts in either varsity of Jayvee or Bee competition, a player may be moved up but not down.

In the past, for example, in baseball, a player could be moved up or down in different weeks, and this also applied to swimming and track.

Coaches often juggled personnel each week in order to strengthen themselves for certain games or meets. Under the new rule, this will not be possible. Coaches will now probably start with minimum varsity squads and only move players up when they definitely show top ability and they feel sure they can make the grade.

The rule has merit in many ways, due to the practice of some coaches of juggling personnel from week to week. It also has some demirits, but all in all is probably best in the long run, although the wailing will be long and loud on the part of some.

Knight Matmen Get Early Start

The Las Lomas Knights have been hard at it on the mats since November 1, and got a jump on the others when they opened with a meet last week and defeated Tech High, 33-23.

Top men in each of the weights as released to go against Antioch were as follows:

103, John Settle; 112, Bill Herbert; 120, Gary Reigg; 127, Bob Madsen; 133, Barry Burlingame; 138, George Williams; 145, Jim Pierce; 154, George Skinner; 165, Otto Schatz; 175, Kar Van Tagen; 191, Joe Lawler, Heavy, Ron Treat.

New Bridge for Hunters..

The new bridge across Montezuma Slough to Grizzly Island near Fairfield in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta will be dedicated December 2 and a bottleneck to one of the state's most popular waterfowl shooting areas will be broken for all time.

The bridge will be open for use when the second half of the 1960-61 split waterfowl season opens at noon December 10. State Department of Fish and Game authorities said it will restore on that day the full quota of 500 hunters.

DURING the first half of the season the quota had to be reduced to 100 because of the limited capacity of the ferry which carried hunters from the mainland to the island.

Applications for reservations on opening day must be received by the Department of Fish and Game, 722 Capitol, Sacramento, no later than Wednesday. Application blanks may be obtained from any state license agent.

The bridge was a joint project of the Wildlife Conservation Board and the County of Solano. The WCB originally (in July, 1950) allocated $67,500 for the bridge, and this was to be matched by county funds.

THE BOARD added another $72,000 in 1959 because spiraling costs had increased the original estimates. The county agreed to handle all additional costs, plus maintenance of the structure. Work began last summer.

Access to the island has long been a problem. Two county ferries provided service in 1950 when the waterfowl shooting area was acquired with Wildlife Conservation Board funds. In 1952 the ferry to the south part of the island was discontinued and the remaining ferry has created a bottleneck which caused traffic jams, frequently of four to six hours' duration.

Early in the first half of the current waterfowl season the ferry was removed from service and another ferry, with reduced capacity, was substituted. To keep traffic moving, the Department of Fish and Game reduced its hunter quota for the island.

LARGEST RESERVOIR

Briones Reservoir, on which construction will start late this year, will be the fifth and largest of EBMUD's terminal reservoirs, with a capacity of 22 billion gallons.

If U.S. population reaches 230-million by 1975 as predicted, farmers must produce 16.3 billion pounds more meat, 47 billion pounds more milk, 20 billion tons more fruits and vegetables, and 20 billion more eggs.

Living Habits and Cancer Study Into 2nd Phase

Contra Costa County volunteers of the American Cancer Society have completed the second phase of their six-year effort in the society's nationwide study of the relationship of human living habits to cancer.

This was announced by Mrs. John S. Selley of Walnut Creek, county survey chairman.

Mrs. Selley said that the last of 2100 of the local follow-up reports has been turned in by the 300 volunteers who are carrying out the survey in all parts of the county.

She said that although the study still has a number of years to run, important information already is being taken from it.

Several local representatives of the American Cancer Society were present at the recent annual meeting of the society's California Division in San Mateo.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, director of the national study, told a preliminary spot-check of 43,235 of the 1,000,000 questionnaires filled out last year.

Among other things, the sampling revealed that while 43 per cent of the men and 88 per cent of the women had some sort of physical complaint when filling out the questionnaire, only 11 per cent of the men and 17 per cent of the women had been to their doctors to find out what was wrong.

The sampling also indicates that occupational exposure to dust, gases and fumes may be of greater importance than air pollution as a contributing cause of lung cancer, Dr. Hammond said.

Milk is the only food approved by the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association for fortification with Vitamin D.

Waste Disposal Groups Join CD

The Western Disposal Operators Association, composed of 18 private waste disposal companies within the county, has been integrated into the County Civil Defense and Disaster Organization.

Will H. Perry, Jr., director, said, "This is an excellent example of private industry cooperating to augment the local government's Civil Defense and Disaster organization.

"As far as we know, Contra Costa County is the first to enroll the waste disposal companies into the Disaster Organization.

"Our commendation is hereby extended to their Association, represented by Peter Bertoglio, president."

A 100 per cent voluntary sign up of these companies was supervised by Ron Nelson, deputy director of the County Disaster Office, and Tom McMorrow, director of sanitation of the County Health Department.

The workers, trucks and equipment of the waste disposal industry are volunteered to the Sanitation Division of the Medical and Health Service under H. L. Blum, M.D., health officer, for use in time of major disaster.

Sun Valley Shuns W.C. Annexation

More than 100 members of the Sun Valley Improvement Association who met recently at the Montecito School to conduct their annual meeting, indicated support for a lighting service area.

Declining to discuss annexation to Walnut Creek, even though it was on the agenda, Alex Barr, president said the necessity for discussion was past since an annexation petition circulated by Walter Hughes had failed to block the proposed lighting service area.

Contra Costa County Supervisors formed the lighting service November 9. The district has an estimated cost of 31.3 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

A referendum petition signed by 10 per cent of the registered voters in the district during the next 60 days can force an election.

Robert May was elected association president, defeating Robert Southworth, an annexation forces candidate. May will succeed Alex Barr.

Read Speaks About Iron Curtain Trip

Maurice G. Read, president of the Mason - McDuffie Company, spoke on "Behind the Iron Curtain" Monday morning at a breakfast meeting of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board.

He was one of 65 American Realtors who recently returned from a two-month Europe tour covering 23 cities in 11 countries.

Read is also vice chairman of the International Federation of Real Estate Brokers.

He spoke mostly about his experiences in Prague, Warsaw, Leningrad and Moscow.

The program was arranged by Phil Dirks, chairman of the Education Committee.

A women's Division luncheon was held Wednesday at the Red Mill.

It was also announced that Multiple Listing Service classes for new salespeople will resume next Friday at the board offices on Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

BELLS WILL be jingling Saturday when Santa and his reindeer arrive at Broadway Shopping Center at 2:30 p.m. Coming from the noted Santa's Village, Santa and his attendants will come to greet the children with Donder, Blitzen, Prancer, Dancer and all the rest . . . and live, too!

Bargains from Thanksgiving Continue Now!

Just because Thanksgiving is over doesn't mean that those food store ads in today's Sun don't have a message for you.

Those specials and bargain offers continue right through today and tomorrow in most of the local stores.

By reading the ads today, you can take advantage of Thanksgiving offers, and be stocked up for the bountiful time of the year between Thanksgiving and Christmas!

Local merchants enlarged their stocks considerably for the anticipated increased demand for "the trimmings."

They began offering their specials early this week, and to keep consumer interest throughout the weekend, decided to continue them through this weekend.

Check those holiday ads in today's Sun. You will find they truly have a message for today's and tomorrow's shopper.

Two Big Days Planned In Broadway Center!

Thanksgiving is wonderful, but Broadway Shopping Center's TWO BIG DAYS, today and tomorrow, will be spectacular. (That's right—spectacular!)

Broadway will put on a brand new face—the face that children, young people and adults have been waiting for.

George Webster, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association, said, "Broadway officially becomes the Christmas center today and tomorrow, and you will find the holiday gifts and decorations waiting."

He added, "Shoppers will have first pick of entirely new assortments of gifts, household goods, clothing and the things which make Christmas so colorful and memorable each year."

And the youngsters will be that extra thrill tomorrow when Santa arrives in his sleigh, pulled by honest-to-goodness reindeer!

Arrival time is 2:30 p.m. in Broadway.

Entire families are expected to turn out for the event.

Air Reserve To Air New Radio Show

"Reserved For You," a new radio program to be broadcast each Sunday at 6:30 p.m. on station KKIS will serve to acquaint local residents with Air Reserve activities and Air Force developments, according to Major W. F. Tuggle, information officer of the 9441 Air Reserve Squadron.

Airman Chris Borden will write the local scripts which are to be alternated with regular programs prepared by the Continental Air Command.

Capt. Steinbach's Destroyer Escort Is Honored

Henry Steinbach of 1067 Glenn Road, Lafayette, is a U.S. Navy Reserve captain and skipper of the destroyer escort USS Alvin C. Cockrell, which was honored Saturday.

His ship has been named the outstanding Group II destroyer escort on the West Coast during 1960.

Steinbach received the USS Samuel Roberts Trophy from Assistant Secretary of the Navy Richard Jackson.

LOCAL MEN who are members of his crew include the following: David Rogers, Gerald Russon and Carl Schaeffer of Walnut Creek, Ray Bunton and James Drake of Lafayette, Dan Winterbauer of Pleasant Hill.

When Captain Steinbach retires at the end of this fiscal year, he will end a naval career which began when he graduated as an ensign from the University of California in 1941.

In World War II Captain Steinbach served aboard the USS Dent in the Aleutians during the Japanese invasion of the islands early in the war.

DURING the Solomons campaign the Dent was converted to a fast destroyer transport and was used for landings by Marine raiders.

By the end of the war he was the commanding officer of the USS Auman.

Captain Steinbach is married to the former Marion Margaret Schlichtmann, a member of the 1943 class of the University of California, whom he married while on leave during the war.

Cities, Counties Must Enforce Own Smog Rules

The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors recently decided to leave the enforcement of anti-smog regulations to the 67 citites, 6 counties and 32 fire districts that comprise the district.

However, the Bay Area APCD "retains regulatory responsibility with uniform services and enforcement carried out by local jurisdictions," in accordance with the recommendations submitted by the county administrators.

Control Officer Benjamin Linsky was directed to submit his recommendations, in line with the new enforcement policy to the board's budget and finance committee for study.

The committee's recommendations regarding an increase in the present tax limit of one cent per $100 of assessed valuation will be presented to the full board at the Dec. 7, 1960 meeting.

Linsky has asked for an immediate increase for a minimum enforcement program which would cost at least $1,000,000 annually. In his report to the board, he justified every proposed addition to the staff.

Before reaching its "home rule" enforcement decision, the directors heard testimony from three representatives of industrial Contra Costa County.

Dr. Hendrick Blum, health officer of the county, contended that there is a need for local smog enforcement to "counterbalance the strength and position of the district."

Harry Morrison, secretary-manager of the Contra Costa Taxpayers Association, was critical of the tax increase provision in the control officer's report.

William O'Connell, a consulting engineer and also a member of the district's advisory council, also voiced his opinion in favor of local enforcement.

Santa and Reindeer To Arrive This Weekend!

Santa will arrive in Broadway Shopping Center Saturday at 2:30 p.m., according to George Webster, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association.

Highlighting the arrival of Ol' Saint Nick will be his sled which will be drawn by six real live reindeer, Webster said.

Santa's elves will help hand out candy canes.

SANTA'S arrival will come on the second of the TWO BIG DAYS in Broadway, heralding the arrival of the Christmas season.

Broadway has been planning the arrival of Santa Claus for some time and merchants in the center have set aside two extra special days to welcome the most joyous time of the year," he continued.

"With the arrival of Santa, merchants have determined to have a sale, their first, of quality Christmas goods at reasonable prices.

"Why not bring the whole family down to Broadway and help welcome Santa?" Webster said.

SOME stores in Broadway are open Monday, Thursday and Friday night, and others Monday and Friday nights for the convenience of shoppers.

And starting December 5, they will be open Monday through Friday nights. Of course, the center will continue to be open all day Saturday.

Santa will not be the only symbol of the yuletide in Broadway.

A giant Christmas tree, "flown direct from the North Pole," will be erected this year. Special lights will be used for the decorations.

Begoniaa Tubers Should Be Kept Until Next Year

Here are items for the area gardener to check this week:

Separate Begonia tubers from their stems as the latter dry off. Wash soil off the tubers and store them until next year in a dry place.

Cut back Chrysanthemums as they go out of bloom. No need to wait.

Fallen leaves and most faded annuals can be composted. The exception is diseased material such as a mildewed Dahlia.

Fuchsias may be bloomed out, but they are not to be pruned until after the first of the year. February is the usual month.

November is the ideal month for planting evergreen shrubs and trees. Many bareroot trees will be available soon.

Telephone Co. To Build In San Ramon Area

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company recently asked the Contra Costa County Board of Adjustment for a permit to construct a communications equipment buildings and other facilities in the San Ramon area.

The buildings will go up on a four-acre parcel off Highway 21, about six miles south of Danville and 1.1 miles north of the Alameda-Contra Costa County line.

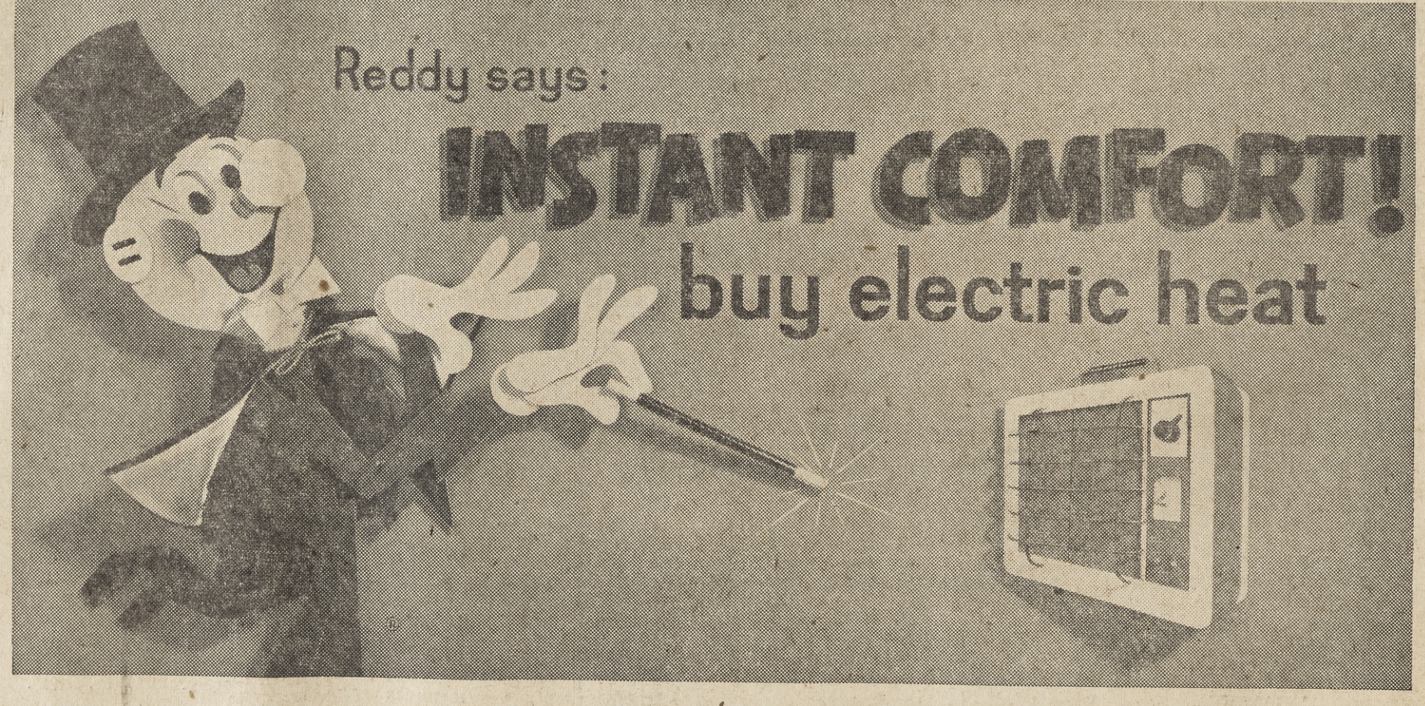
Reddy says:
INSTANT COMFORT! buy electric heat



Presto! Change "br-r-r" to "m-m-m" with quick, quiet electric heaters. They make chills vanish... ideal for those cold zones—like hard-to-heat or added-on rooms. There are many new ideas in electric heat besides individual portable heaters: built-in wall units, baseboard, perimeter floor inserts and radiant ceiling cable. Installation cost is low. And operation cost averages only about 7½¢ per square foot per year! Look into modern electric heating soon.

Home Econmoics Career Day Draws Big Crowd

The third annual Career Horizons in Home Economics reception at Las Lomas High School entertained students and their mothers from over 30 intermediate and senior high schools in Contra Costa County as well as individuals from the University of California at Berkeley and Davis, Contra Costa Junior College and San Francisco State.

Sponsored by the Diablo Valley Home Economists in Homemaking, an affiliate of the American Home Economics Association, a panel program led by Mistress of Ceremonies Ardith Steger included Annabel Post, home economics editor, Sunset Magazine; Helen Hanson, research nutritionist, Western Regional Laboratories; Grace Kampen, home furnishings specialist, University of California; Velma Bradfield, state supervisor of homemaking education; and Jean Langley, homemaker and president of the Diablo Valley Home Economists.

Discussion included description of the various fields of home economics, the educational backgrounds needed for each field, the financial rewards and some advantages and disadvantages of each of the various fields of home economics.

Special guests included George Briggs, chairman, department of nutrition, and Bessie Cook, home economics professor, University of California at Berkeley; Marilyn Dunsing, home economics professor, University of California at Davis; Phyllis Howe, dietitian, Contra Costa Junior College; Mary Williams, home advisor, University of California, for Contra Costa County, and Mary Stiles, University of California department of education.

Mrs. Georgia Morrison, chairman of the reception, was assisted by committee heads Ardith Steger, Eleanor Lister, Laurie Thornton, Carol Weightman, Vivian Roberts and Felicia Cornwell, as well as the remaining 24 members of the DVHEIH group.

'Heart' Holiday Card Deadline Is Wednesday

Deadline for imprinting names on Christmas cards distributed by the Contra Costa County Heart Association is Wednesday, according to Mrs. W. B. Marschner, treasurer.

The 1960 Christmas card, in blue and red on a white background, is an exclusive design for Bay Area Heart Associations.

Mrs. Marschner said, "Those who wish to send the Heart Christmas card make a contribution for heart research of the amount usually spent for holiday greeting cards.

"They will receive, in return, the number of cards usually mailed at the holiday season for their mailing lists.

"Only the cost of the card is deducted from the contribution. Because six associations participate in the plan, the cost of the attractive, colorful card is greatly reduced and will make possible a greater amount of Christmas funds for the research program."

Cards may be seen at the Contra Costa Heart Association office, 2030 North Main, Walnut Creek, and at the western branch, 6806 Cutting Boulevard, El Cerrito.

A sample card will be mailed on request, Mrs. Marschner said.

Survival Is Audubon Film Mon.

"Designs for Survival" is the title of the second film of the "Audubon Screen Tour" at Diablo Valley College Monday at 8 p.m.

There is no charge for admission.

Produced and narrated by William A. Anderson, "Designs for Survival" delves into the mystery of life's complex processes in both the animal and plant kingdoms, and the constant struggle to adapt to what is taking place.

In the past 10 years, Bill and Claire Anderson as a husband and wife team have done the research, written the scripts, edited and sound-tracked 16 classroom films.

They have also supplied sequences for three of Walt Disney's Oscar-winning nature films and a number of Disneyland television productions.

Stories about their film-producing activities have appeared in "The Reader's Digest" and "The Saturday Evening Post."

Among nature's many unusual sights to be seen in Monday night's film are the angler fish, with its built-in fishing pole and bait, casting about for an unwary catch and the unlikely looking "roving zoological garden" moving across the bottom of the ocean in search of prey.

Izaak Walton Topic Is Trout

European and Russian trout will be discussed by Dr. Paul R. Needham, University of California professor of zoology, and his assistant, Robert Behnke, at a meeting of the Diablo Chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America.

Time will be 8 p.m. Thursday in the Walnut Bowl.

Among the interesting trout studied by Dr. Needham is a species of brown trout that will spawn in lakes in water from three to 40 feet deep.

Other highlights of the report will be studies made by Mr. Behnke on Russian trout, including the difficulties encountered and descriptions of some very highly specialized trout found only in Yugoslavia.

Dollies Inc. Asks for Dolls And Help in Dressing Them

Dollies, Inc., struck a double bonanza during the past month, and is now looking forward to a bigger and better Christmas than ever for little girl from needy families in this area. That is, with community support continued as during the past five years. Three hundred dolls distributed this year will push the organization over the 1000 mark in donations.

The Dollies, Inc., jackpot was a generous check from the Lafayette Lions Club (before, Dollies never had it so good) and a pleasant, spacious central workshop given by a charming senior citizen from Walnut Creek, Mrs. Ruth Gordon, 1929 Shuey Avenue. Mrs. Gordon has had a lifelong interest in dolls and even holds a doll patent.

THE DOLLS held over from late 1959 are rehabilitated now and many are in the hands of seamstresses for new wardrobes. Since the muu-muu is "de rigueur" this year, patterns for same will be distributed to anyone who will lend a hand dressing dolls.

Besides new helpers and many more dolls (baby doll and larger types mostly) the following materials are needed from well-wishers: Laces, embroideries, ribbon, taffeta, tulle, cotton flannel, fur, beads and jewelry bits; two folding bridge tables, and a usable sewing machine. treadle or electric.

SOME CAMPFIRE Girl and Girl Scout groups will participate in collecting used dolls soon. In addition to Mrs. Gordon's home, decorated barrels to receive used dolls are being placed at the following depots: Loards Creamery, Orinda; Lewis & Lewis carpets, 3406 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette; Pleasant Hill Baptist Church; and Volunteer Bureau, 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek.

Superintendents Outline Schools Dept. Services

Three district superintendents have summarized for the County Board of Education their suggestions on services they now receive or hope to receive from the County Schools Department.

In the first of a series of meetings with superintendents of school districts, the county board heard from Superintendent Neil Parsons of Acalanes Union High School District, W. B. Ellis of Lafayette School District and Joseph Sheaff of Orinda Union School District.

The meeting was held November 15 in conjunction with the county board's regular session in the Court House at Martinez.

THE superintendents agreed that a consultant in school planning and construction would help to save "thousands of dollars."

Suggestions for new services included consultant services, in addition to those of the regular county staff, in science, mathematics, foreign languages; workshops for teachers at the various levels — elementary, high school — rather than for all levels together; a collection of master tapes and recordings to make outstanding educational material available to all.

A clearing house to make possible the exchange of materials and ideas among schools of the county; special consultant services for the development and use of foreign language laboratories; a survey of the number of blind children, hard-of-hearing and neurologically handicapped.

Other suggestions, touching on services already available, were as follows: continued coordination of college and university extension courses; expansion of machine data processing — such as IBM handling of report cards; research projects — for example, the best methods for schools to use in complying with smog control measures.

ALSO expansion of the new information center, which "will be used more and more as it becomes known," according to Superintendent Parsons; continuation of audio-visual and industrial arts consultancy services as they are now operating.

Examples of the benefits of joint undertakings by school districts and the office of County Superintendent Floyd Marchus were also cited.

These consisted of the Orinda vision screening study, which developed a test receiving national attention; a study of the education of gifted children at Lafayette; and the machine processing of report cards at Del Valle High School, Walnut Creek.

Gene Hagen Buick Open To Business

"The best car, finest service, individual attention and quality throughout are features offered by Gene Hagen Buick," said Eugene Hagen, owner of the new business which opened recently at 2008 Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

Hagen chose the Walnut Creek location because he liked the small town climate with its tremendous potential and proximity to a large city.

His civic activities have included the Carroll, Iowa, Chamber of Commerce (past president); director of Carroll Rotary Club, member of the Elks

A LONG DRINK

Danville Reservoir, to be completed in the fall of 1961, will store 15.6 million gallons of treated, ready-to-drink water.

No Trial Date Yet For Miller Case

Central Contra Costa Sanitary District counsel Charles Williams advised the board of directors at last Thursday's nights meeting that no trial date has yet been set for the M. Miller case.

The Miller company of Los Angeles is the contracting firm formerly employed by the district to install the outfall sewer line to Suisun Bay. Their contract was terminated in March by the district and the line has been completed by the firm of McGuire and Hester.

District Manager Gerry Horstkotte asked directors to amend Ordinance 33 to establish a means of reassessing a sewer district for possible reconstruction of sewers. District counsel was directed to write an amendment, to be taken up at the December 1 meeting.

DIRECTORS approved sewering plans in the Bonnie Brae subdivision in Pleasant Hill. Horstkotte asked approval of the plans because, he said, it may be necessary to condemn to obtain easements.

The board authorized settling an easement claim from Alvin K. Goodmanson at $850, and the payment of $49.62 plus interest as a refund to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Niles, the result of an overcharge.

A portion of Lot 16, 2-2/10 acres in Fairway Acres, Orinca, was approved for annexation and connection, at a charge of $277 per acre plus connection charges.

A request from the San Ramon Branch library for annexation was approved, at a cost of $191 per acre.

R. S. WHITE, president of the Danville Estates Utilities Association, asked for a means of equalizing connection charges in his area. His suggestion that the charge be re-equalized each time a new connection is made was approved.

Directors authorized the district to file a notice of completion and acceptance of the Moraga Pumping station and to make the final payment on the Orinda pumping station.

Painting of the stations was rejected by the board.
